TWO CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH AT COWICHAN

Tiny Girls Perish When Houseboat Is Razed By Fire

Lillian Davis, Four Years, and Audrey Davis, Eight Months, Die When Coal Oil Used to Light Stove Catches Fire and Logger's Home at Camp Six Burns; Frantic Mother, With Clothing Ablaze, Jumps Into Lake and Then Returns to Rescue One of Her Three Children by Entering Through Window.

Trapped in the flaming kitchen of a houseboat near Camp Six, Cowichan Lake, Lillian, aged four years, and Audrey, eight months, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Allan Davis, were burned to death Saturday afternoon, according to word reaching here late yesterday.

An inquiry into the dual tragedy was conducted yesterday afternoon by Coroner H. P. Swan of Duncan, who found it unnecessary to hold an inquest.

Mrs. Davis, mother of the two little girls who met death in such tragic fashion, is in the King's Daughters' Hospital, suffering from severe burns which she received attempting to rescue her children from the flames. She is distracted with the memory of the fatal blaze which occurred when she tried to light a stove with coal oil.

A story of horror and tragedy and pathetic heroism of the mother, was revealed in the inquiry conducted by the coroner yesterday.

Mrs. Davis, the wife of a Cowichan Lake logger, was in the kitchen of the houseboat with her three children, Lillian, Audrey and Buddy, aged three years, and Eileen Nelson, ten, daughter of a neighbor, when the fire occurred.

She attempted to light a fire in the stove by pouring coal oil on the kindling and as the can tipped up some was spilled on the floor.

MASS OF FLAMES
Touching a match to the inflammable liquid the flames leaped high in the air and then spread to the woodwork. In a short space of time the little room was a mass of flames.

The little Nelson girl immediately ran ashore from the houseboat to summon aid.

Her clothing a mass of flames, Mrs. Davis dashed out of the kitchen screaming for help and then, with great presence of mind, jumped into the lake to extinguish her burning clothes which made her a human torch.

Mrs. Mamie Adams and Mrs. Nelson, mother of the little girl, came to the rescue and pulled Mrs. Davis from the lake. The three of them then attempted to enter the kitchen through the door but scorching flames barred the way.

Frantic and distraught in her thoughts for the screaming children inside, Mrs. Davis, unable to enter through the locked side door of the houseboat, seized a pole nearby and broke one of the kitchen windows.

She climbed through and emerged a minute later with her little son, Buddy, in her arms.

FORCIBLY STOPPED
Putting the lad ashore, she returned to the houseboat, to save the other children, but by this time the kitchen was a raging inferno and her friends, after imploring her not to risk her own life further in what seemed a useless effort, forcibly restrained her from again entering the burning house.

Immediately afterwards, Mrs. Davis was rushed to hospital in Duncan, while Buddy, the sole survivor of the three children in the family, was taken to a neighbor's home.

Arrangements for the funeral of the two little victims have not yet been made.

MACDONALD IS VISITOR AT LAKE ST. JOHN

British Premier Rests in That Quebec District Before Returning to London

Montreal, Oct. 22.—Right Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, accompanied by his daughter, Isabel, and members of his party, to-day was nearing the Lake St. John district of Quebec Province, where he will spend the time between now and next Friday entirely separated from cares of state and social duties. He will be the guest of Lieut.-Col. John H. Price during his stay in that part of the province.

The Premier boarded his special train here last night following a day crowded with events which left him tired.

Functions in honor of the British Premier in Canada are drawing to a close. At Quebec Friday he will address the Quebec Canadian Club and will be the guest of the Provincial Government at a state banquet.

He will board the liner Duchess of York at that port Friday, sailing for England.

The army of newspapermen which has been with the Premier on his special train since he landed at New York was not taken to Chicoutimi, where Mr. MacDonald will be left as free as possible to rest and recuperate from the severe strain of so many conferences and speeches crowded into the last couple of weeks.

At McGill University yesterday afternoon Mr. MacDonald received an honorary doctorate of Doctor of Laws.

AKLAVIK AIR SERVICE IS TO BE STARTED NOV. 26

Ottawa, Oct. 22.—To Canada's far northern outposts, Aklavik and Herschel Island, once remote from communication of any kind during the long, white months of winter, aeroplanes, manned by men of the wilderness, soon will be winging their way on regular schedule, carrying to the traders, hunters and trappers mail and merchandise from the "outside" and returning speedily with the products of the great wilderness—furs for the world markets.

The planes will carry mail matter to the bleak little trading posts between Edmonton and Aklavik and Herschel Island on the extreme north-western coast of Canada, a distance of some 2,000 miles. Radio, which came to the posts of the traders and the camps of the hunters and trappers but a short while ago, bringing with it news of the outside world, now will have aeroplanes as its auxiliaries in

COUNCIL SHIES AT OPEN DISCUSSION ON BORROWING PLAN

The City Council was silent last night on what has become known as the "Two Million Dollar Plan." Tentative drafts of proposed measures under which authority to borrow up to $1,850,000 could have been sought were not mentioned at the meeting. Alderman William Marchant, Mayor of the first Pay-As-You-Go Council of 1922, made an effort to have the subject introduced, but failed. It was not on the agenda, he was informed. Mr. Marchant said later he had been waiting to introduce an amendment which would have obliterated borrowing, and would have set aside approximately one mill a year from revenue for permanent street improvements.

WORD AWAITED FROM SEARCHERS IN FAR NORTH

Not Known Yet If Planes Away on Hunt For McAlpine Party

Winnipeg, Oct. 22.—At dawn to-day the advance guard of an aeroplane squadron was ready to start searching for C. D. McAlpine and his seven companions, lost in the sub-Arctic since September 8. Search directors at Winnipeg, however, were not certain that four planes at Baker Lake, 300 miles west of Hudson Bay, had carried out their plan to resume the northward air hunt after two weeks of between-season delay.

No report had come down over the radio waves from the Barren Lands to-day, except a delayed message that almost perfect visibility conditions had given way to an overcast sky late yesterday. At that time, with the temperature fourteen degrees above zero, snow had seemed certain to fall and a gentle northwest breeze was playing across northwest territories.

It was certain that if such conditions continued to-day the hop-off on the McAlpine party's trail would be delayed.

No definite word from Baker Lake was expected till this afternoon.

TO SEARCH COAST
The route of the Baker Lake patrol would take the four planes to Bathurst Inlet, unattained goal of the McAlpine group on Canada's Arctic shore. The 450-mile jump would take but four or five hours, and it was planned the north coast would be searched by the fliers in two parties out of Bathurst. It was a month and one-half ago that the McAlpine party left Baker Lake aboard two cabin planes for Bathurst.

Loses His Birth Certificate So Must Stay Here

T. Kimura, Japanese of Seattle, came to visit Victoria a few days ago and now he cannot get back because he has lost his birth certificate. He explained at police headquarters this morning when he reported the loss of his birth certificate.

Owing to immigration regulations, it was necessary that he produce the certificate, he said. As he had either dropped it somewhere in the street or misplaced it, his return to the United States was barred until he could get a duplicate copy for which he had written, he added. Meanwhile he is hoping that the missing certificate will turn up or his stay here will be much longer than he had anticipated.

EDISON IS HONORED ON JUBILEE OF WORLD'S FIRST LIGHTING BY ELECTRICITY

Scientists and inventors were among the world's most priceless possessions, said the President, adding: "There is no sum the world could not afford to pay these men who have that originality of mind that devotion and industry to carry scientific thought forward in steps and strides until it spreads to the comfort of every home."

The speech came at the end of a crowded with activity in honor of Edison's perfection of the incandescent lamp.

NOT MEASURED IN MONEY

Measuring the unselfish devotion which scientists give their work, the President said that not by all the profits of all the banks in the world can we measure contributions which these men make for progress.

"And they are the least interested in the monetary results," he added. "Their satisfaction is in the accomplishment in the contribution of some atom of knowledge which will become part of the great mechanism of progress."

Their discoveries, he said, were not the material for headlines. Their names were usually known but to a few, but the people owed them a great honor and were proud to demonstrate through Mr. Edison to-day that their efforts were not unappreciated.

Before Mr. Hoover spoke he had witnessed an unusual contrast of circumstances when he watched the now aging and distinguished Edison receive the first lamp as he did a young, hopeful, ambitious but unknown inventor, fifty years ago.

Standing by the inventor in the same laboratory Edison used a half century ago, brought here by Henry Ford, the President saw how the soft glow of delicate, vibrating wires ushered in the age of light.

With Edison and President Hoover were Ford and Francis Jehl, who, as a youth, aided the inventor with his experiments. They saw an old man, now lauded with the plaudits of the world, deftly construct his lamp with a few moments which fifty years ago was brought into being only after long days of patience, trial and error.

FLOOD OF LIGHT

As the experiment was completed, the dim lights of 1879 in the laboratory burst into the full light of present-day electricity and the jubilation bell in the tower of Independence Hall, a reproduction of the original at Philadelphia, where Mr. Hoover returned to make his speech, rang out a noisy salutation to the inventor whose genius was being celebrated.

Applause rose from the crowded banquet hall, to which radio had carried a description of the experiment.

TWO GIVEN CREDIT

President Hoover was introduced by Owen D. Young, the toastmaster at the ceremonies, and was applauded as he lauded both Edison and Ford. By founding an institution dedicated to Edison research, the President said, Mr. Ford was honoring Edison in a manner which appeals to a sense of fitness.

And scientific research means more than its practical results in increased living comfort, Mr. Hoover said. "The future is not merely a question of the development of our industries, of reducing the cost of living, of multiplying our harvests, or of larger leisure. We constantly strengthen the fabric of national life by the inculcation of that veracity of thought which springs from the search after truth. From its pursuits we shall discover the unfathomable of beauty, we shall stimulate aspirations for knowledge, we shall ever widen human understanding."

LIKE A GARDEN

Concluding his address, the President likened the present civilization to a garden.

"It is to be appraised by the quality of its bloom," he said. "In degree as the fertile soil with liberty, as we maintain diligence in cultivation and guardianship against destructive forces, do we then produce those blossoms, the fragrance of whose lives stimulate the people to use the courage of renewed effort and confidence of the future."

MME. CURIE ATTENDED

Independence Hall was lighted only in the soft glow of gleaming candles as President Hoover, Edison, Ford and about 600 guests sat down at the banquet table. Among those at the President's table was Madame Curie, the French scientist, co-discoverer of radium, who will be honored at the White House on Nov. 12.

As soon as the President had finished dinner he left with Ford and Edison for the reconstructed Menlo Park laboratory. After the experiment there, they returned to the banquet hall, where Mr. Hoover spoke. At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the President went to his nine-car special train for the overnight run to Cincinnati to participate in the dedication of a monument commemorating the canalization of the Ohio River.

Among those on the list of notables present at the dinner were John D. Rockefeller, Charles Schorah, Adolph S. Ochs, Otis H. Kahn, George M. Reynolds, Julius Rosenwald, Walter Chrysler, C. W. Nash, Alvin McCauley, Charles Beecher Warren and Samuel Insull.

Many citizens of Victoria heard the speeches of President Hoover, Mr. Edison, and the others over the radio.

AKLAVIK AIR SERVICE TO START NOVEMBER 26

brushing away the loneliness which accompanied the advent of winter.

Commenting on the proposed aerial service which is scheduled to start with the departure of the first plane from Edmonton November 26 north-bound, Thomas Bower, postmaster of Winnipeg, points out the new air mail parcel rates will be the cheapest service of the kind on this continent.

There is no competitive service to consider and this is the paramount factor in the setting of the low rate. It will be cheaper to send a parcel from Winnipeg to Herschel Island by air than from Toronto or Montreal. The rates range from 80 cents a pound to Port Providence to $1 a pound. To Herschel Island, as compared with the charge of $1.55 from eastern Canada.

To the distant posts of Akilavik, at the mouth of the Mackenzie River, and Herschel Island, the air mail schedule calls for three flights, November 26, January 21 and March 25, while to forts and trading posts "en route" weekly and monthly service, depending on distance, will be maintained.

DRUG CLERKS WAGE FIGHT BEFORE COURT

Judgment was reserved after a three-hour hearing.

Opening on behalf of the clerks Mr. Davey and the applicants had secured an order compelling the board to show cause why the calling should not come within the terms of the Male Minimum Wage Act.

For the board Mr. Haldane said it had no reply to make, but would be glad to assist a settlement of the dispute in any way possible. The board assented to the reference to the courts.

Pharmacists were professionals and had been recognized as such since the days of King James I, submitted Mr. Crease. Minimum wage legislation around the world contemplated only the protection of workers who had no special training or skill to fall back upon. In the Geneva reports of a world survey of such legislation it was found that this was so, and that workers only, as contrasted with the professional occupations, were intended to be covered by the legislation dealing with hours of labor and wages paid.

The B.C. Hours of Labor Act, 1925, and the Male Minimum Wage Act, 1929, dealt exclusively with workers to the exclusion of all professional classes, submitted Mr. Crease. The term wage was defined as the sum of that of salaries was not once mentioned. The act was to apply to "all occupations of workers" as distinct from those whose knowledge and training placed them in the professional classes.

TO DOCTORS AND CLERGY

If the Male Minimum Wage Act was intended to apply to drug clerks it would also apply to doctors, lawyers and the clergy, he would suggest, continued Mr. Crease further. The fact was, however, that there were three types of employees in the profession of pharmacy, apprentices, qualified clerks and licentiates. The first two named classes were often minors, and the act could not be applied to them in any event.

If the B.C. legislation had been drafted to cover licentiates of pharmacy then it would also apply equally to all the professions, which were something outside the wish of the intention of the Legislature, said Mr. Crease, who cited cases where similar issues had been argued before the courts and a distinction recognized between professionals and workers, and salaries and wages as mentioned in protective legislation.

The pharmacists were a separate professional body, highly skilled with onerous duties involving both the life and health of communities. They were governed by their own special act, with its board of examiners and strict supervision under provincial administration. The Male Minimum Wage Act could not have been intended to interfere in such a position, and its wording and inferences would have been to have contemplated such an interference, submitted Mr. Crease in conclusion.

TRAIN-BUS CRASH IS INVESTIGATED

Chilliwack, B.C., Oct. 22—As a result of a school motorbus being struck by a C.N.R. freight train at the Yale Road crossing yesterday afternoon, Alice Brown, fourteen, a high school student, lost her life. Jean Gillespie, fifteen, is in a critical condition, seven others are suffering from fractures of bones, cuts and bruises, three more are at their homes after receiving treatment in the hospital, and nine others, boys, are suffering severely from shock and bruises.

THOSE INJURED

Following is a list of those injured: Lillian Hubbard, fourteen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hubbard, East Chilliwack, right leg badly crushed.

Alvin Hardy, seventeen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hardy, East Chilliwack, compound fracture of the left leg above the knee and injuries to the face.

Gordon Webb, fifteen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Webb, Sardis, left leg broken.

Carolyn Hardy, fifteen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hardy, East Chilliwack, hand cut and hip hurt.

Phyllis Hickman, sixteen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hickman, Prairie Central Road, deep gash in head.

Rachel Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Kelly, Prairie Central Road, scalp wound and bruises.

Ruby Hayes, fourteen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Hayes, had cut on the left temple.

Eida Miller, fifteen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Miller, Upper Prairie Road, back injured and cuts on the legs.

Betty Travis, sixteen, daughter of Mr. Arthur Travis, Sardis, cuts on the right leg and a tooth knocked out.

Irene Redpath, seventeen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Redpath, Sardis, hip injured and hand cut.

Twenty-one Chilliwack students boarded the bus at the conclusion of the day's studies at the high school yesterday afternoon and with Isaac McMullin, a resident of many years' standing in the community, in charge of the bus, proceeded through the city and along the Yale Road toward Sardis.

At the Canadian National crossing a few hundred yards south of the city, the driver failed to see a heavy freight train approaching from the west at a moderate speed, nor did he apparently hear the warning whistle. When the bus was directly across the track it was struck by the locomotive and hurled across and to the east of the track, most of the occupants being thrown through the air.

Seven girls were seated on the side of the bus which received the impact and all were injured, while the ten boys on the other side, with a single exception, escaped without serious hurts.

SEEN BY PHYSICIAN

Dr. R. McCaffrey of this city was following the bus and on seeing the approaching train, slowed down his car, while the bus proceeded without apparent knowledge of danger. In describing the crash, Dr. McCaffrey stated he would never forget the scene. It was worse than anything he had witnessed while overseas during the Great War. As the locomotive hit the light framework of the machine, a cloud of dust arose as though there had been an explosion underneath the car, with students, glass and splintered wood flying everywhere.

The car was thrown against the railway crossing signposts. That kept the machine from turning over.

PHYSICIANS CALLED

Twelve of the twenty-one students were rushed to the Chilliwack hospital, close to the scene, and five local physicians and all available nurses were pressed into service.

Alice Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, East Chilliwack, suffered a fracture of the skull, expiring shortly after being admitted to the hospital. She was in Division Six, Grade Nine, was a clever student and very popular.

Jean Gillespie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gillespie, East Chilliwack, who is making a brave struggle for life, is a Grade Ten student. She is suffering from a concussion of the brain and her condition is serious.

TRAIN STOPPED

The train, in charge of Conductor D. Leddy of Vancouver, and Engineer

F. Cadillac of Vancouver, was stopped in about ten car-lengths.

Mr. Hogg stressed the point that licentiates and druggists were included in the same association, and had a vote in its councils. The profession was one with self-government, within the limits of special legislation applying only to that profession. A lay board, such as the Male Minimum Wage Board, could not in justice sit on the question of what was a fair remuneration to pay for scientific work in a highly technical study. Mr. Hogg associated himself with what had already been said by Mr. Crease.

EXCEPTIONS NAMED

For the drug clerks H. W. Davey said the Male Minimum Wage Act was explicit in naming all occupations as controllable by the act, with specific and named exceptions. If pharmacy was a profession there was nothing in that that made settlement of the issue by the act out of keeping with the intention of the Legislature to apply it to all occupations. The fact that ten applicants were on hand to say that they had a complaint was evidence of some dissatisfaction in the calling, submitted Mr. Davey.

The Legislature had intended no social distinctions between professions and businesses or trades, or wages and salaries in the working of its act, he continued. An association containing both licentiates who were drug store owners and licentiates who were employees could not fix wages, he said.

The Male Minimum Wage Board was not asked to say what wage should be paid to any individual employee, but what was the minimum wage to apply to the general class of employees. The clerks, he thought, were not employees at any time, and so could not come within the scope of the act, said counsel for the clerks.

On the other hand bookkeepers were employees engaged in a non-manual and non-mechanical occupation.

SCHOOL DAYS ARE JOY-DAYS FOR PROPERLY NOURISHED CHILDREN

SHREDDED WHEAT

With all the bran of the whole wheat

After a warm, nourishing breakfast of Shredded Wheat and hot milk, the youngsters are off to school with bounding energy and mental alertness. They like the crisp, crunchy shreds of baked whole wheat and it's so good for them. It's ready-cooked.

It was a fact, stressed Mr. Davey, that "white-collar" men fared poorly in comparison with skilled artisans who were protected by unions. The Male Minimum Wage Act was designed to relieve any chronic cases of unfairness in this and other respects, and drug clerks were now asking for that relief. The druggist had followed the times in commerce and operated a commercialized calling, with merchandising taking place to a great extent, and over a wide range of articles, he submitted in conclusion.

THAT WAS AT THE TIME YOU WERE SELLING HORSE MEAT?

Sweid stammered and the lawyer demanded:

"You did sell horse meat, did you not?"

"Yes," replied Sweid. "Povey led me into it."

THOUGHT IT WAS BEEF

Questioned further on the subject, he declared that at first he thought the horse meat was "bull." Povey, he declared, made arrangements for the delivery of the meat and he paid the man who delivered it. He said he did not know the man who took it to the store but just paid him what Povey told him to pay.

Sweid admitted the sale of horseflesh was carried on for some time in his store during the summer, it was brought out by Mr. Lyons.

Acting on rumors that horseflesh was being sold as beef in Vancouver during the summer months, city health authorities carried out an investigation, but announced no sales of such meat could be discovered.

Sweid went on the stand Monday to give evidence regarding a document he allegedly signed for Povey, in which he declared he was paying the man $25 a week when his salary was in excess of that amount.

The charge against Povey arises out of a judicial proceeding brought by his wife last June, it being alleged by her that he swore falsely as to the amount of salary he received.

The case was adjourned till October 28.

BRITAIN NEEDS PEACE

GREAT BRITAIN'S ECONOMIC SALVATION depends upon universal peace. Prime Minister MacDonald very naturally realizes that the danger of war will diminish and disappear only as the peoples of the world submit to moral disarmament. But he also realizes that material disarmament is essential to the creation of an atmosphere in which international hatreds no longer will thrive. To that business he has addressed himself, knowing that his mission to the United States already has received the blessing of a united people.

In all the circumstances it is difficult to understand the attitude of critics of Mr. MacDonald's policy. They do not seem to realize that unless the great powers come to some agreement on this matter, armament competition will ensue, and the pace that will be set will be so fast that either bankruptcy or war will be the outcome.

To Great Britain not only world peace, but relief from the burden of armaments, is an economic necessity. Her army of unemployed numbers about 1,250,000. Her national debt is nearly $38,000,000,000—twelve times its total before the war. Her annual charges on this account alone amount to $1,845,000,000, or $5,054,790 per day. Her taxpayers have to pay more into the treasury than any other people in the world. If some of Mr. MacDonald's desires in this country were taxed on the British basis, they would sing a different tune.

Britain will weather her economic storms successfully as long as her broad back does not have to bear any further heavy burdens. An armament competition would create a load which neither she nor the Empire as a whole could support. Such a competition in a few years would cost billions, which would have to be added to an already colossal debt. Is it any wonder that Ramsay MacDonald has the support of the British people in his efforts to effect an agreement concerning armaments among the nations of the world?

RURAL CO-OPERATION

IN THESE DAYS OF ORGANIZATION for commercial and other purposes it would appear that the up-Island farmers might develop more of the co-operative principle as a means of stimulating production in the rural areas. It is not for the layman to attempt to instruct the agriculturist in his business; but he is interested in the development and expansion of that business. It is easy to understand why. If the rural population of Vancouver Island were twice what it is today, there would be a marked difference in the condition of business in such cities as Victoria, Duncan, Ladysmith, Nanaimo and Cumberland. Upon the production of the farms a good deal of the prosperity of these urban areas depends.

Agricultural production on Vancouver Island—and by that we mean every phase of rural activity—falls considerably short of what is required for consumption. We are importing from other parts of the province, and from other parts of the country, much more than should be necessary. It ought to be possible to remedy this condition, to the advantage of the farmer and the city dweller alike. The farmers of Vancouver Island are as skilled and as energetic as farmers are anywhere; but there does seem to be a lack of co-operative effort such as is essential to maximum production and profit. We should like to see action directed towards greater agricultural expansion. There is land in plenty, fertile soil and a climate about which experts often have waxed enthusiastic.

TOBACCO IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

THE TOBACCO INDUSTRY OF THIS province is apparently facing somewhat brighter prospects, and there is increasing expectation of a favorable outcome. Possibility of successful production has long been definitely established, certain districts having been proven capable of growing a very satisfactory leaf. The trouble in recent years has been entirely a marketing one, and this would now seem to be nearer solution. If satisfactory markets can be established, a very large acreage can be successfully devoted to tobacco in British Columbia, and it is mainly to this end that efforts are being directed just now.

For years a flourishing little industry existed in the Okanagan Valley, the acreage varying between fifty-five and sixty acres, never exceeding this, and the product disposed of in Vancouver. Following the announcement of the British Preference, there was an enlistment of new growers and a rush to get in acreage. In 1927 the acreage in the Okanagan was substantially increased, and in addition 200 acres were planted in the Kereones, Cawston, Vernon and Oliver districts, while there was also an experimental acreage in the Lower Fraser Valley and on Vancouver Island. Altogether there were 360 acres under tobacco cultivation in the province under contract to the company which had purchased the 1926 crop. On this area some 470,000 pounds of tobacco were produced.

Growing reports of prospects for sale in Britain were brought back after investigating the situation there, but difficulties, mainly of a financial nature, were experienced in the marketing of the crop, and the major portion of this is still in the growers' hands. This has held up the advance for which preparations were made in the way of general experimentation, the erection of curing barns, and the appointment of field men by the Government to assist growers. Though a yet larger acreage had been projected for 1928, expansion in the experimental areas was temporarily halted and the total acreage in the province reduced to 116 acres, which produced an estimated total of 32,840 pounds. The greater part of this is also still in the growers' hands.

A significant development of 1928, however, was the planting of approximately forty acres of tobacco in the Sumas reclamation scheme, about fifty miles from Vancouver. A group of Hungarians settled there, attracted by the similarity of climate and other conditions to those of their own country. They were experienced tobacco growers, capable of processing their own crop, and in this form they sold twenty-five tons to a Vancouver firm. The same firm has this year contracted for 100 tons, the agreement calling for the processing and blending of the crop by the growers, and accordingly some ninety acres have been planted this year in the Sumas area.

An outcome of this development has been a project of the Provincial Government for the blending of the Sumas tobacco with the white burley of the Okanagan. An experimental blend with fifty pounds of the Okanagan Valley product was pronounced excellent by experts, suggesting the possibility of the establishment of a new provincial industry. It is reported that the firm contracting for the Sumas acreage will engage in the mixing of the tobacco grown there with the product of the Okanagan for commercial sale in the province.

FACTORY AND FARM

WHEN WE THINK OF THE PRAIRIE Provinces, we instinctively visualize vast expanses of wheat lands which produce the greater part of Canada's annual meal ticket. But production in that part of the Dominion is by no means confined to what is grown on the farm. Statistics published recently show that the combined total of manufacturing establishments in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba now is 2,356, with a capital investment of something like $270,000,000.

It is always gratifying to note industrial expansion, and there is room in this country, especially in British Columbia, for a good deal of it. At the same time, it is highly important that we preserve throughout the Dominion a proper balance between urban and rural development. Our prime industry is agriculture, not alone the growing of wheat, but also that of more intensive farm production, vegetable culture, dairying, and so on; and as such land surrounding already settled communities is developed, the demand for the products of the factory will grow automatically. In a young country like this, it is the tendency for the youth that is brought up on the farm to drift to the cities that should be combated. History shows that the country which preserves her rural life has more vitality than the country in which the population is mainly urban.

INCONSISTENT ARGUMENTS

THOSE WHO ARE ALARMED BECAUSE we buy more from the United States than we sell to that country, and proclaim the fact as an economic disaster for Canada, should study statistics relating to the republic's trade exchange with other British countries. The United Kingdom, for instance, purchases from the United States twice as much as she sells to that country. Australia's purchases are four times her sales, and New Zealand's two and a half times. Hence, it will be seen that Canada's exchange is on a more even basis than either of these three, in spite of the fact that the Canadian and American markets are next door to one another.

Although there is such an insistent complaint of our adverse balance of trade with the United States, we never hear any complaint about Canada's one-sided dealings with the rest of the Empire. The figures tell a striking story. In the two years ending with last August, this Dominion sold goods to the other British countries with a value of $1,007,980,620, and bought goods with a value of $513,052,297, or a balance in our favor of no less than $494,928,323. And instead of a plea for more purchases from British countries, those who continually grumble about our preponderance of purchases from the United States would pursue policies which would still further diminish our imports from such countries as Great Britain and the Antipodean Dominions.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

EXPLAINING THE SENATE

The Detroit Free Press

The Senate is to-day, with its increasing proportion of weak and panicky sisters, a result of abandoning the original constitution and running after the strange gods of pure democracy. They have placed upon the electorate the burden of choosing suitable timber for the Senate, which a passive and disinterested majority has been unwilling to assume. This leaves candidates for the Senate to be picked by minorities interested less in men who will legislate wisely for the country than in those who will "vote right," as it is given to these minorities to see the right.

PLACE, OR LOCALITY?

The Christian Science Monitor

When, in reply to the query of the Pharisees, Christ Jesus declared that "the kingdom of God cometh not with observation: Neither shall they say, Lo here or, lo there; for behold, the kingdom of God is within you." He drew a sharp distinction between the spiritual consciousness and the material sense of locality.

Many problems in human experience involve the question of place or locality. Viewed materially, some of these problems appear difficult of solution; but viewed spiritually, through the understanding of Christ Jesus' words, "The kingdom of God is within you," they are seen to be susceptible of solution.

In solving problems involving the question of place, the important consideration is not, Where is one to dwell or to work? but, Where do my thoughts dwell? Where is my confidence? Where is my faith? No material circumstance, power, or position can affect the real life of man, whose abode is in divine Love, omnipresent Mind. No amount of consideration of the vexing phases of a problem from a material point of view, no amount of rehearsing, mentally or audibly, of the regrettable happenings or of doubtful forebodings can bring it to its right solution. But contemplation of the great spiritual facts of real being, governed by immutable spiritual law, and the prayerful effort to live in consonance with these facts, will further this solution by calming, steadying and clarifying thought, thus bringing it into harmony with divine Principle, and thereby improving human conditions.

A THOUGHT

For every man shall bear his own burdens.—Galatians vi 5.
We are too prone to find fault; let us look for some of the perfections.—Schiller.

Loose Ends

Mr. Babson was right after all—because the old laws of economics are still in force—Mr. Bull decides to put his hands to work—in churches, theatres and public assemblies—and New York produces an unknown hero.

By H. B. W.

A WHILE AGO Roger Babson, noted American financial authority, predicted that stocks would go down. They did not go down, not at once. Instead, they went up and there was loud laughter among the plungers of Wall Street. This laughter, however, did not last long. For just as Mr. Babson had foreseen, stocks went tumbling down. Mr. Babson, being a kind of financial philosopher, rather than a financier, had based his calculations as he always does, on laws of economics as old as business. He saw that stocks were artificially high, and he knew they could not remain that way forever. He was on the outside looking in, and he saw the whole picture. The men on Wall Street, on the inside looking out, were so busy looking at particular stocks that the rest of the picture was obscured to them. There is much to be said for the outside view.

THE SAME thing happened in Victoria in the salad days of 1911, 1912 and 1913. What a time we had then! Everybody was rich on paper, property values doubled and trebled and quadrupled between daybreak and sunset, and it was solemnly predicted by a great local journalistic authority that the city would have a population of 500,000 within twenty years; would overtake and pass San Francisco, just as Chicago passed St. Louis. But outsiders, whose vision was not obscured by some attractive corner lot, realized that Victoria's great boom was largely a gigantic swapping of knives, that it was an artificial condition, unsupported by sufficient outside capital and bound to collapse. Anyone who suggested such a thing, however, was regarded as unpatriotic.

BEFORE THE War was dreamed of the game of knife swapping was played out, the slump came. The outsiders had looked at Victoria as a man would look at a forest, from a distance, seeing it all at once. The knife swappers were in the middle of the forest and could only see the trees at hand. When the forest began to burn on the outside they didn't know it until they were burned up. In all games of chance it is well to remember that the laws of economics, like the laws of gravity, may seem dormant for a time, but in the end they always work.

EVERY TIME the world begins to think that John Bull isn't what he used to be, the old gentleman rises up and executes some stroke of genius, in his ponderous way, to show that he is still in his prime. Such a stroke of genius has just been recorded in Manchester to confound Mr. Bull's critics. In Manchester appeared a newspaper advertisement lately asking for "twelve respectable, bald-headed gentlemen," upon whose scalps will be painted, by a method which will be "in no way detrimental to their health" advertisements for a new make of typewriter. The successful applicants for these twelve distinguished positions will be required "to attend places of worship, theatres and concert halls and other assemblies where the head is usually uncovered. Each one will be accompanied by a personal attendant to protect him from insult or annoyance." The advantages of the job are thus very great.

THE SUCCESSFUL applicants will be taken free of charge to the best theatres and public assemblies and will have personal bodyguards such as only the most distinguished people can afford. On the other hand, they must behave with perfect discretion, for "only gentlemen of the highest integrity and of absolutely unblemished character need apply." One would have thought that a bald head alone was a sufficient guarantee of respectability, for gentlemen so equipped have little opportunity for anything else; but the employers in this case are taking no chances. They insist that their representatives shall be bald and unblemished except for the letters painted on their shiny pate.

WHAT A COMFORT this new development in advertising will be for countless bald-headed gentlemen the world over—the knowledge that come what may they have still a useful purpose in life. And what a satisfaction for countless gentlemen who are getting thin on the top to know that if all else fails they may become walking billboards! The next development will be a bald-headed men's union, which doubtless will enforce a high standard of ethics and badness to prevent the entry of spurious pretenders, who still harbor a few unprofessional hairs around the edges.

interests of civil comfort. In Dutchess County a traffic jam occurred at a busy corner and a chauffeur, locked in the middle of it, passed the time by blowing his horn furiously to the great misery of all around. At this juncture an unknown hero alighted from his own car, pulled out a revolver, went over to the horn-blowing chauffeur and told him to behave like a human being and to emphasize this suggestion above the muzzle of the revolver into the chauffeur's middle. The horn blowing stopped and it was not necessary to use justifiable homicide after all.

THE NEW York police, says The New York Times, are on the trail of the gentleman with the gun, but this paper says it cannot believe that they want him for any other purpose than to confer upon him some little token of the public's regard. The Times rather hopes they won't catch him, for it prefers to think of him going about the world devoting himself to his little nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and of love anonymously, not seeking the public's praise. I hope he may come to Victoria with his faithful gun and teach manners to some of our motorists who behave in the safety of their cars as they would never dare to do if they were facing you on foot.

ANNOUNCEMENT CHANGE

If place of "there will be a brief pause for station announcements," the NBC has substituted a four-note gong which is sounded as a warning for local stations to make their announcements.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES, OCTOBER 22, 1904

Boleskin Road schoolhouse was crowded last evening at the Liberal meeting. J. Stuart Yates presided and the speakers were George Riley, Ralph Smith, C. H. Lugin, Dr. Lewis Hall and J. C. Waters.

Less than two weeks intervene between now and election day, and the political prophets are getting into harness.

A sharp tilt between Ralph Smith, the Liberal candidate for the Nanaimo district, and two Socialists turned last evening's meeting in the Lamson Street schoolhouse into perhaps the most spirited and lively of the campaign.

Last evening the anniversary of the battle of Trafalgar was celebrated by a large patriotic gathering at the assembly rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Weather forecast: Victoria and vicinity—Light to moderate winds, unsettled, with rain.

ROSECRUCIANS

To the Editor:—Our attention has been called to several letters appearing in your October 15 issue pertaining to the Rosicrucian Organization in America and other lands. It appears that one of your leaders having some knowledge of the Rosicrucian Order asked for further facts from your readers. It appears that one of our members answered and gave some additional facts while another person signing his letter as "G. S." took the opportunity to express such things as are not facts and were in no way helpful to the original seeker for information, and certainly not to the benefit of everyone wishing to know more about the very old and honorable society of the Rosicrucians.

The writer, G. S., states in your October 15 issue that the Rosicrucian Order "is an esoteric brotherhood, that is, one which operates from only the 'invisible'." This supposedly definite statement is followed in the next paragraph with the statement that "There is a physical organization known as the Rosicrucian Fellowship." These two contradictory statements would naturally lead any seeker to believe that the writer either did not know what he was talking about, or that there is some catch in his peculiar phrasing. The truth of the matter is that there is but one Rosicrucian Order throughout the world using the word "Order" as part of its ancient and official name. This body of Rosicrucians represents the esoteric and properly empowered descendants of all of the ancient Rosicrucian organizations, and continues to use the ancient, original Latin name of the organization, which is translated into English as Ancient Mystical Order Rosea Crucis, or shorter still by the initials AMORC. There are, however, so-called Rosicrucian societies, fellowships, fraternities, centres, and what-not, each of which has absolutely no connection with the international organization, and never had, and never will have. Modern, personal groups have a different name, and not one of them uses the word "Order" in its title, nor the true symbol of the Rosicrucians, which is a gold cross with a single red rose in the centre. The true name of the organization and the true symbol, as described above, is patented in the United States and in other lands, and the AMORC is the only organization holding that patent. The other organizations simulate the name and the symbol. The "Fellowship," for instance, to which G. S. refers, uses an imitation of the Rosicrucian symbol with a garland of seven roses around it, which never was and never could be the true symbol of the real Rosicrucian Order.

The institution of G. S. that his "Fellowship" organization is one which offers Rosicrucian teachings to the seeker without any phase of commercialism, is intended to be a very subtle attack upon other movements. The truth of the matter is, that the organization he represents does not operate as the Rosicrucian Order throughout the world operates, for the AMORC does not sell its teachings to anyone, but gives them freely. Nor does it consist of a publishing house, as does the organization he represents, putting all of its so-called Rosicrucian teachings into books and selling these books on the open market at various prices. The Rosicrucians never published their secret teachings in book form in any land, and never sold them at any price to anyone for the AMORC is not a commercial organization or movement, and the hundreds of members in and around Victoria and Vancouver can testify to the fact that none of them have ever paid for the teachings they received, nor for any degree or advancement they have received in either the Vancouver Grand Lodge or the Victoria Lodge of AMORC. Nor does the true Rosicrucian Order deal with astrology or fortune telling, as is featured by the movement represented by G. S. nor does the AMORC deal with spiritualistic matters, beliefs in spirit entities, invisible creatures, or other occultic matters. The AMORC is not a religious, political, fraternal or any other kind of a cult dealing with sex teachings or theoretical postulations arranged to appeal to the gullibility of the superstitious element of the public in America or other lands.

We thank you for the opportunity of presenting in your columns a correction in connection with the wrong impression which the letter of Mr. G. S. may have created. It is true that the public is made acquainted with these facts, and that readers be warned against entering into such movements like that of the Aquarian Foundation, which had its headquarters near your city, and brought so much grief into the lives of its innocent followers, and other organizations dealing in similar subjects.

R. M. LEWIS,
Supreme Secretary of AMORC for North America.

Canberra Gives Scullin Welcome

Canberra, Australia, Oct. 22 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—James Henry Scullin is the new Prime Minister of Australia. The leader of the Labor Party, he was commissioned to form a new ministry by Lord Stonehaven, Governor-General, yesterday after Premier Stanley M. Bruce had tendered his resignation. The new Prime Minister, who is fifty-two years old, started life as a farmer's boy near Ballarat. He goes into office pledged to uphold the federal system of arbitration of labor disputes. On arrival at the federal capital yesterday he received a great popular welcome. Probably Mr. Scullin will choose Edward G. Theodore, former Premier of Queensland, as his treasurer and right-hand man. Another member of the Cabinet is expected to be J. A. Lyons, former Labor Premier of Tasmania. Of the other prospective Ministers, none have had any Cabinet experience. Mr. Scullin's first act as Premier was to cancel the dismissal of 1,700 telegraph linemen, which had been ordered by the Bruce Government following the awards in a labor dispute.

Do you know the cause of piles is internal?

URGES EVERYONE TO WEAR POPPY ARMISTICE DAY

Honor Memory of Dead and Help Needy Is Secretary's Appeal

A plea that every citizen to wear a poppy on Armistice Day is made by H. W. Hart, honorary organizer of Armistice and Poppy Day celebrations. Pointing out that the poppy is recognized throughout the Empire as the flower of remembrance, Mr. Hart says:

"With the approach of the eleventh anniversary of the eleventh hour of the eleventh day, which brought peace to a war-torn world, the Armistice Period Committee in conjunction with the rest of the Empire, is preparing to celebrate the day by commemorating the sacrifice of the dead, and securing assistance for the living whose needs are great."

"The poppy, recognized throughout the Empire as the flower of remembrance, which provides work for men broken in the fight for freedom, should be worn by every citizen, and we have placed orders with the Red Cross Shop sufficient to meet all requirements."

"An efficient force of ladies, to sell poppies in the streets on November 11, is necessary. Up to this time appeals for assistance have been negligible. Requests to organized bodies, that they devote a short portion of their programmes during armistice week to the subject of the hour have been generally disregarded or definitely refused. One service club only has acceded to the request."

"Apathy, due to lack of knowledge regarding the sufferings which are endured by veterans, is painfully apparent. We ask that an opportunity be given us to place the true facts before representative bodies so that they may know the condition and help to remedy it."

"And unless public sympathy and support is forthcoming we must either abandon the eleventh anniversary appeal or risk a serious financial loss. Our appeal is for $10,000 or more. With that sum we could give instant relief to needy cases, prevent our comrades dying from neglect, as they have done in the past, and bring a measure of happiness into lives that are filled with suffering and anxiety for the future."

ONE BOX ENDED HIS SUFFERINGS

Serious Bowel Condition
Relieved
by "Fruit-a-tives"

Mr. James Page of Cabano, P.Q., was in a very dangerous condition. The Constipation from which he had suffered for five years was undermining his whole system. It was not only ruining his digestion and poisoning his blood, but had also brought on painful piles. Various treatments failed to help him until he tried "Fruit-a-tives," made of intensified fruit juices combined with scientific medicinal ingredients. "One box of this wonderful medicine," he writes, "gave me complete relief. 'Fruit-a-tives' gives results as nothing else does, and I sincerely recommend it to every sufferer." Try this great medicine, 25c and 50c a box—at dealers everywhere. (Advt.)

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Nix and Mrs. Wilkinson. Mrs. Gorton acted as general convenor.

Women From Southern Vancouver Island Here For Two-day Session

Dr. H. E. Young Describes British Columbia's Public Health Policy

The first conference of Women's Institutes of South Vancouver Island held since the Minister of Agriculture rearranged the institute districts, opened for a two-day session this morning at the Victoria W.I. headquarters, with Dr. H. E. Young, Provincial Health Secretary, as the principal speaker. Delegates from all the institutes south of Nanaimo were in attendance.

PAYS TRIBUTE

Dr. H. E. Young, chairman of the Provincial Health Board, in an address on the history of the public health policy of British Columbia, paid tribute to the Women's Institutes for their active interest in the Government's work along the lines of public health.

Prevention of disease was the basis of all public health work to-day. To insure the health of the community or nation, certain laws had to be enforced, these laws being often contrary to the personal beliefs of individuals, but necessary to the general welfare of the community, Dr. Young pointed out. Public opinion, since the war, brought its many lessons of health, had been tremendously strengthened in support of the promotion of public health.

To-day British Columbia was accomplishing more in the education of the public along health lines than any other province, the speaker claimed. He pointed out the two aspects of public health, the humanitarian and the economic.

HIGH COST OF HOSPITALS

From the economic standpoint the cost of curing disease was enormous, and British Columbia was spending far too much on hospital buildings and sanatorium maintenance, and on in-patient asylums and such facilities, said Dr. Young. The Government alone spent about $5,000,000 on such institutions, in addition to the heavy costs borne by the municipalities.

In the opinion of the Health Department, health prevention work would mean the saving of such huge expenditure. If money were diverted to preventive work among children it would be a tremendous asset to the community. The speaker pointed out the retardation of school children through physical and other preventable ailments, thus adding to the heavy burden of the taxpayers.

Dr. Young noted that in the year 95 per cent of the deaths were due to disease, and in the Great War, thanks to preventive measures, only five per cent died as the result of disease, proving conclusively the efficacy of preventive medicine.

INJECTING "PUS"

In British Columbia each year there were 25,000 cases of measles, all preventable, said Dr. Young. "Yet in this intelligent community we medical men have to fight a harder battle against those who accuse us of injecting 'pus' into people than in any other part of Canada," he continued.

"I have seen little children dying a horrible death from diphtheria. Yet there are people who say that it is a visitation from God, and that it is wrong to take steps to prevent it. And a harmless preparation injected into a child will render him immune for five years, and diphtheria is scarcely ever contracted by an adult. Isn't it worth while doing such preventive work?"

Thanks to the immunizing work carried on in Sancho, there were now no cases of diphtheria in that municipality, Dr. Young observed. Smallpox and typhoid were also preventable. Vaccination was a sure protection from smallpox.

SAATCHI CONGRATULATED

Dr. Young reviewed the measures taken for follow-up work in the schools, and told of the special training given to public health nurses along preventive lines. The work of the Sancho Health Centre was reported last year to the Rockefeller Foundation showing that fifty per cent of correctible defects in the school children had been corrected. The Foundation congratulated Saatchi on this splendid record and on the magnificent work of the centre's staff.

British Columbia's public health nursing service began with pre-natal among the expectant mothers in the isolated rural district. Post-natal care was also featured, and well-baby clinics conducted, the speaker noted.

ITALIAN PRINCE VISITS BELGIUM

Heir to Rome Throne to Ask
Hand of Princess Marie
Jose in Marriage

Brussels, Oct. 22.—Crown Prince Humbert of Italy is expected in Brussels to-morrow with the object of obtaining the consent of King Albert and Queen Elizabeth to marry Princess Marie Jose.

On Sunday the Italian Ambassador, in behalf of the prince, sent a beautiful bouquet to Marie Jose, at the same time announcing the prince's coming visit. An elaborate reception has been planned at the royal palace in Brussels to celebrate the betrothal, which probably will be formally announced on Thursday, the anniversary of the wedding of the king and queen of Italy.

The prince, who is twenty-five, and the princess, who is twenty-three, met first at Venice in 1917, when Marie Jose was a pupil at the Villa de Pizgi, near Florence. Later the prince visited the Belgian royal family, after which visits between the two royal families were frequent.

The only obstacle to the wedding was the excommunication of the royal family of Italy, which followed the annexation of Rome by the House of Savoy, but the recent arrangement between the Vatican and the Italian state cleared the way for the matrimonial union.

St. Mark's Card Party—A card party will be held on October 23 at St. Mark's Hall at 8 p.m. Prizes will be given and refreshments served.

CONFERENCE OF INSTITUTES IS OPENED TO-DAY

ESQUIMAULT WORK

Mrs. Booth described the work carried out under the auspices of the Child Hygiene Council of Esquimault W.I. since its inception eight years ago. Beginning with about five mothers eight years ago, the council now has sixty-seven mothers and their children on its roster. The local council through its operating table endorsement fund had paid over $3,000 to the Jubilee Hospital for minor operations for children.

SCHOOL INSPECTION

Mrs. Moody of Lake Hill and other delegates complained that the parents were not notified when the medical inspection was held in the schools. She thought the mothers should be present when the children were examined. Another delegate, from Shipyards, urged more frequent medical examinations, there being only one each year at Shirley School.

Mrs. Service brought greetings from the Victoria subdivision of the Catholic Women's League.

Much interest was taken in the health posters displayed at the meeting. Mrs. J. D. Gordon, provincial president, was in the chair.

DELEGATES HERE

Delegates to the conference included: Cobble Hill, Mrs. J. N. Hughes, Mrs. McMillan; Colwood, Mrs. C. Goodall, Mrs. J. Hopwood; Cowichan, Mrs. Peterson, Mrs. Lauridsen-Hogarth; Esquimault, Mrs. G. Wier, Mrs. Appleby; Lake Hill, Mrs. R. W. Mercer, Mrs. Moody; Langford, Mrs. Welsh, Mrs. McDonald; Lunenburg and Happy Valley, Mrs. D. Welch, Mrs. Hutchison; Metchoan, Mrs. McVicker, Mrs. Johnston; Royal Oak, Mrs. H. H. Reed, Miss Oldfield; Shirley, Mrs. M. A. Clark, Mrs. J. Columbia W.A.—The Diocesan Board of the Columbia W.A. will hold its monthly meeting on Friday, Oct. 23, in the Memorial Hall. At the afternoon session at 2 o'clock, Mrs. James Dickson, diocesan president, will give meeting held in Montreal.

BLIND TAUGHT USEFUL WORK

The picture shows two blind workers who are busy engaged in basket making. One of the principal objects of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is to teach them to become in part or wholly self-supporting.

The campaign for funds to be inaugurated the week beginning November 4 by the western division of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, occurs fittingly in the year that marks the centenary of the invention of the Braille system of embossed printing, which through its raised point method of reading and writing by touch, has opened up a world of science, literature, art—as well as re-creating old book-friendships, from which those deprived permanently of sight would have been otherwise wholly excluded.

The chance experimental attempt on the part of a Frenchman, Valentin Haüy, to teach a blind beggar boy to read by the use of embossed paper, proved the idea giving ultimate birth to the system evolved and perfected by Louis Braille.

Blindness does not eradicate the innate urge and craving of the human heart and mind for work and self-expression. The ordinary avenues and channels closed to them—new means of approach and contact must be established if they are to retain their hope and courage and ambition.

One of the chief objects of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind is to teach and encourage and assist these sightless citizens to the end that wholly or partly self-supporting, they may be reinstated in independence and self-respect, recovery and maintaining their normal place in community life.

ing and maintaining their normal place in community life.

ADULTS AND PROBLEM

In this attempt the adults have hitherto constituted one of the gravest problems. Too old to attend school, the schooling has been brought to them in the shape of visiting teachers in their homes. They must not be left to the loneliness and despair of unoccupied hours.

Miss Robina McKellar, herself totally blind, is a leading example of what those without sight, learning first to help themselves with their quickened sympathy and understanding, can do for others similarly afflicted.

As teacher in Vancouver for the Institute, Miss McKellar goes daily into the homes, comes into close contact with these people—awakens in them the knowledge that they need not despair—that much worth living for is still within their grasp. She rouses them out of their apathy, revives their interest—and according to their predilections teaches them to read or write by Braille; instructs them in the craft of basketry or the caning of chairs; in knitting and netting; the making of bags and hammocks.

The transition from hopelessness to eager aptitude and real skill is amazing—especially when one considers the age, in many cases, of the persons taught, and their recent and sudden deprivation of sight.

AGE NO BARRIER

Here a dear old lady of eighty-four years is mastering the study of Braille, that she may not be separated in her Gospels and hymns; the same old lady who protested that time spent in teaching her was time lost—that she was too old to learn new tricks. And now her regained joy and serenity are instances of the reward that attends Miss McKellar's efforts.

Another old lady of sixty-nine is making highly artistic and saleable trays and tea-pot stands.

A fine old man of seventy years has become in a comparatively short space of time a skilled maker of baskets, vying favorably with those not laboring under a similar handicap.

Another, not an especially assiduous reader in his youth, blinded at forty-five, has become an accredited student of the classics—all literature being provided free of all charge, even postage, not only from the Institute headquarters in Vancouver, including Braille magazines, but from the head office in Toronto as well.

Checkers, with specially constructed boards and pieces; dominoes with raised points, are among the forms of entertainment provided by the Institute and their use inducted into the home by Miss McKellar.

The morale and happiness of not only the person directly affected, but of every one in the home, is thus enormously enhanced.

Gloom is displaced by an atmosphere of renewed cheer. The feeling of helplessness gives way before a sense of activity restored. The erstwhile clinging dependent is becoming self-reliant, self-supporting, for the Institute helps dispose of all their saleable, finished products.

Through home teaching the Institute has inaugurated simply one more means of providing not only diverting entertainment—but an engrossing work that blind people can efficiently perform.

"200 Years of Excellence"

A TIME PROVEN MEDICINE for the LIVER AND KIDNEYS

For nearly half a century these pills have been for sale in drug stores and known to the general public.

For at least a generation before that they were used extensively in the medical practice of a celebrated physician.

Their value was proven to the public by the giving away of millions of samples. Now they are universally known to the medical profession and to the public generally and are found in the great majority of homes.

Since the sale of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is continually increasing, we believe that this is the best proof of their medical value and of the way they are appreciated by the people who use them.

REGULATES THE LIVER

Medical men often refer to the liver as the governor of the human system and blame the liver for many human ills which affect the digestive system.

When healthy and active, the liver filters the poisonous bile from the blood and passes it into the intestines where it acts as a cathartic to regulate the action of the bowels.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills act very promptly and very directly on the liver. They quickly arouse the torpid sluggish action of the liver and thereby relieve biliousness, headache, dizzy feelings, indigestion and all the distressing symptoms which accompany liver complaint.

AROUSES THE KIDNEYS

Kidney troubles usually result from chronic liver derangements. The blood is overloaded with poisons and in an effort to purify the blood, the kidneys break down and the poisons go through the system, resulting in backache, lumbago, rheumatism and other painful and dangerous diseases.

It is not sufficient to treat the kidneys. Medical treatment must also awaken the action of the liver and bowels.

Because Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills do this very thing they are most effective in relieving disorders of the kidneys.

Their combined and direct action on these great filtering systems of the human body accounts for their remarkable success.

RELIEVES CONSTIPATION

The evils of constipation scarcely need explanation. There is no greater rule of health than "Daily Movement of the Bowels." In this way only can the human system be thoroughly rid of poisonous impurities.

There is no more effective treatment for constipation than Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The action of this medicine is prompt and effective. This is why so many thousands of people depend on Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a regulator of the liver, kidneys and bowels.

Even when you are not ill, it is a good rule to take one pill at bedtime once a week in order to ensure the health and activity of these organs. This will keep you feeling well and add years to your life.

OVERCOMES THESE SYMPTOMS

Some of the common symptoms arising from derangements of these organs are:

Headache, Coated Tongue, Fickle Appetite and Indigestion, Feelings of weight about the Stomach, Pains in the Back, Depressed Spirits and Irritable Temper, Irregularity of Bowels, Loss of Weight, Kidney Disorders, Tired, Languid Feelings.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are for sale by all dealers in medicines and are manufactured by The Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto, Canada.

YOUR BABY and MINE

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

CLOTHES MUST BE COMFORTABLE AS WELL AS APPROPRIATE

The first law of clothes is that they should be comfortable. Any garment which defies this law has no place in the wardrobe of any child, infant, or adolescent. If one measures up the wardrobe by this measuring stick one finds it hard to go wrong. This would make it impossible for the mother to put too-tight or too-stiff shoes on the walking baby, for they would be certain to make him uncomfortable; or to stuff his limp toes into shrunken booties or stockings, or to push his yielding arms into sacks that hold them as a straight-jacket.

This would make it difficult for the mother to choose long pants for her small growing boy when he is of an age to demand absolute freedom of legs as imperatively as his lungs demand fresh air. We haven't seen many mothers guilty of this inappropriate dressing, but evidently others have for we have this letter before us now.

"I want to ask your help for the sake of the little boys of five and six, whose mothers hamper them with long trousers. I am sure that these young mothers cannot realize what it means to the child's health. Yesterday at the opening of school I noticed children in the first grade weighed down with these unsightly garments, and it seems to me a cruel custom. I could see how hard it was for them to play and how clumsy it made them."

I can understand a mother putting overalls on her boy for these are loose and light-weight and are an insurance against bruised knees, but it does seem difficult to understand why any mother should choose long trousers for the child of five or six.

Children must be unhampered by every garment they wear, even to such fundamental accessories as garters. The small girl wears fewer and fewer garments and thrives. Woollens for active children are falling into the discard. Cotton garments all year round, with heavier outdoor clothing to protect them from chill winds, are becoming the ordinary instead of the unusual garb for the small child. Low shoes are almost universally worn by the child of school age, summer and winter, and high overshoes as a protection when needed. It would be an abuse to begin loading down the small boy with long trousers years in advance of his need for them. There is an age, when his dignity demands them, for he must look like a man. We know one fourteen-year-old boy who feels now that knickers are a badge of childhood and all the handsome pairs we bought him this spring were pushed aside in favor of a pair of long and scratchy trousers. It takes the fully-matured adult male to enjoy knickers!

AN ANXIOUS SON

"Oh now, Pop!" Johnny gave his father's hand an anxious shake. "You're not going to spoil it. Can't I go? Can't I?"

"I'm not so sure. We'll have to see about it. Anyhow it looks like rain. Say, what's this about Johnny going fishing at the dam to-morrow?"

"I told him he could go. The water's low and he'll be safe enough. Those three little Miller boys go every day. It's not very deep."

"Well, they don't make it safe. Besides, what if the water is lower than deep enough to drown a ten-year-old kid. Old Barney Suds got drowned there last year."

"He was drunk and he got drowned above the dam. He shoved himself over the dam without care and went over. The boys fish below the dam. It's not deep. Johnny's a good swimmer. Didn't you ever go fishing there when you were a boy? You talk about it enough."

NO QUICK DECISION

The conversation sagged up and down, back and forth, all evening. Johnny went to bed and still his father wouldn't make up his mind. But and Chuck had sat out on the steps for

"Mother may I go fishing up at the dam to-morrow with Bud and Chuck?"

"I suppose so."

"You mean it? Honest?"

"Yes. I think you can go. What time?"

"All day. We're going to take our lunch. Jimminy!"

And off flew Johnny to dispense the good news to his chums.

Home comes the good old man at 6 o'clock and Johnny greets him with, "Oh, Dad, guess. We're going fishing to-morrow. Bud and Chuck and I at the dam. All day. We're taking our lunch along."

"Is that so? Who said so?"

"Mom."

"Oh, did she? Does she know that that's the very place old Barney Suds was drowned last year? And besides, there's nothing there but carp. They're

High School Athletes Face Strenuous Programme This Winter

THE SPORTS MIRROR

SEATTLE is attempting to build up a hockey team this season that will win them the championship of the Pacific Coast Hockey League. Saturday, Lloyd Turner, new manager of the Eskimos, announced the signing of Hal Winkler as this year's goalie. Winkler and Turner are old acquaintances, as the former played goal for the Calgary Tigers when Turner was acting as manager of that club in the old Western Hockey League. Winkler has had a varied career and is an experienced and able goalie. His work in Seattle's net should do considerable to strengthen the club over last season. Seattle had a little trouble with goalies last year. Hal York started off in their net, but he took sick and was forced to quit playing. "Porky" Levine was then secured from the east, but he failed to live up to expectations. He had plenty of color, but his work between the pipes was nothing to rave about.

Now comes word from the prairies that the Eskimos have signed Ernie Anderson and Gordon Savage of Calgary. Anderson played in the old Western Canada League and is a brother of "Jack" Anderson, former member of the Victoria Cougars. Savage was a member of the old Calgary Tigers. Seattle dickered with six players of the Alberta Senior Amateur League, but were unable to secure their services for the coming winter. It is stated the Eskimos were eager to obtain these players, and made tempting offers.

Other Californians who played on coast teams last winter will report to their respective teams. Pete Semkowicz and Ted Jacques will be with Portland again this season, and Frank Burke, who played with the Lacombe intermediates for several years, will also be with the Ducks. Joe McDermick will serve his second year with the Portland club.

Mickey Walker doesn't mind telling anybody that his approaching scrap with Ace Hudson is a great fight. In Los Angeles, October 20, will be the toughest battle his extended career has brought him. Of course, Mickey, like every other champion, would say that very thing, but this particular set-to leads one to think Walker is speaking the truth.

"I ain't kidding you when I say that I think Hudson is a great fighter," the toy bulldog says. "He's got lots more stuff than most folks credit him for."

Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, is driving the middleweight champ hard in his training for this bout. The Doc knows the value of a championship and he doesn't care to have his man lose it because of not being in shape.

Both the Walker and Hudson camps are in full swing. The champ is doing his preliminary work at Pa. Soper's ranch in the Blue Mountains.

There was a time when Babe Ruth was King of the cleanup hitters. Now we find Lou Gehrig of the Babe's own team, grabbing a place in the spotlight. Wilson and Hornsby of the Cubs, Bottomley and Hays of the Cards; Simmons and Fox of the Athletics; Helms and Alexander of the Tigers; Klein, O'Doul and Hurst of the Phillies; and Ott and Terry of the Giants are almost as proficient at the art of propelling baseballs out of major league parks as are the Yankee twins.

Pie Traynor, third baseman, battled in the Pirate cleanup position, and while he maintained an average of over .350, his list of bingles included only four home runs. Quite a difference from the thirties and forties accomplished by Ruth, Ott, Wilson, Hornsby, Fox and Klein.

Any youthful player who can promise twenty-five or thirty circuit blows for the 1930 season will find a place waiting for him on the Pirate roster.

An essential factor in the make-up of every pennant winner is one or two home-run hitters, believes Jewel Ems, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. And take it from Ems, the Pirates are to have a couple of first-busters before another campaign rolls around. The Pirates wound up the 1929 season with eighty-eight victories and sixty-five losses, second place in the National League. A home-run punch in their batting order might have given them the needed victories to top the Chicago Cubs, "hones" highly praised "steamer" son of Cuyler, Hornsby, Wilson and Stephenson was credited with smacking several games from the fire.

The records show the Phillies, Cubs and Giants each with more than 150 home runs, twice as many as the Pirates amassed. Only the Reds and Braves trailed the Corsairs.

Five unassisted triple plays have been made in the major leagues since 1910. They were made by George Hurns, Frank Pudge, Glenn Wright, Jim Conroy and Johnny Neun.

Jackie Fields Wants $110,000 To Defend Title

San Francisco, Oct. 22.—Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, will defend his title for $110,000. With these terms, "Old" Rooney, manager, replied yesterday to two offers for title bouts, one from Chicago and the other from Dick Dunn, connected with the Olympia Stadium, Detroit.

Fields Wins Decision In Furious Bout

Welterweight Champion and Gorilla Jones Have 30,000 Fans Near Hysteria

Pair Slug It Out in Wild Frenzy of Rights; Champion Wins Five Rounds

San Francisco, Oct. 22.—Out of ten rounds of a furious fighting as has been seen here in recent months, Jackie Fields, world's welterweight champion, emerged undisputed if not unscathed victor over Gorilla Jones, Akron, Ohio, negro, last night in a non-title battle at the state armory. From the opening gong to the closing bell the pair slugged in a wild frenzy of rights to the jaw and body that had the near capacity crowd of 30,000 in a state bordering on hysteria.

Jones, a dangerous puncher, carried the fight to the champion in the opening rounds, but Fields' aggressiveness and stamina wore down the negro in the closing rounds. Fields' margin of victory was decisive, but the Gorilla's stubborn stand, during which he rocked the champion several times with stiff right-hand punches to the face, made the victor extend himself to his utmost.

A GREAT BATTLE. Honors were about even in the first two rounds, with any edge going to Jones. The champion took the third round, which saw Jones go to his corner with a drop punch over his right eye. The fourth and fifth were Fields', whose trip-hammer-like lefts to the negro's face had the latter seemingly bewildered. The sixth and seventh went to Jones, who launched a fierce attack that had Fields covering up. The remaining sessions went to the champion finishing with a powerful drive that Jones was unable to withstand.

Fields was tired, but his face wore a wide grin as his hand went aloft.

NAVY HAVE CHANCE TO CINCH CUP

Will Meet Hudson's Bay Tomorrow in Hayward Cup Football Series

Saanich United and Batchelors to Tangle For Second Time This Season

With a chance of winning the Hayward Cup, the Navy team of the Wednesday Soccer League will oppose the Hudson's Bay eleven tomorrow afternoon at Beacon Hill. In the other match of the afternoon Batchelors and Saanich United will play at the Royal Athletic Park. The games will commence at 3 o'clock.

At present the Navy have not been defeated this season, having chalked up three straight victories in the present series. Should they win over the Bay, the Hayward Cup will be practically theirs.

Saanich United and Batchelors will meet for the second time this season. In the opening game of the season these teams fought to a 1-1 draw after a close match. A good game is anticipated tomorrow.

The following team will represent the Hudson's Bay: Shrimpton, Wallace, Small, Oakman, Woodley, Cull, Newell, Fish, King, Payne and Armstrong. Reserves: Gardiner, Geddes and Atkinson.

First Division soccer teams will be engaged in league games on Saturday. Three matches will be played. The draw follows:

Victoria West versus Esquimalt, at the Royal Athletic Park.

Five C's versus Saanich Thistles, at Beacon Hill.

Victoria City versus Westholmes, at Victoria West Park.

With a three-point lead over Esquimalt, Westholmes and Five C's, the Saanich Thistles will be after a victory at the expense of the Five C's. Last week the Thistles suffered their initial defeat of the season at the hands of the Victoria Wests.

The Wests-Esquimalt match should be a good one. The greenshirts are just beginning to hit their stride while Esquimalt are playing first-class football.

Victoria City will play with the Westholmes. The City, the defending champions, have not been going so good this season, although they will no doubt be heard from before the season closes. The Westholmes have been providing stiff opposition for all the other clubs of the division.

Junior and juvenile matches for Saturday follow:

JUNIOR. Victoria City versus Royal Oak, at Beacon Hill, upper ground.

Sidney versus Esquimalt, at Sidney. James Island versus Y.M.C.A., at James Island.

OKAIDS versus K. of C., at Spencer's Park.

All games start at 3 o'clock.

JUVENILE. Division I. J.B.A.A. versus Sons of England, at Hampton Road.

Kick-off at 3 o'clock.

Division II. Victoria West versus Saanich Thistles, at Victoria West.

Five C's versus Sons of England, at the Royal Athletic Park.

Kick-offs at 1:30 o'clock.

The Times trundlers went down to defeat in three straight games before the Huskies in the five-pin fixture held at the Arcade Alley last night. The winners showed greatly improved form and gained clean cut victories in all three matches.

D. Donaldson, with 681 and 279 points, led the aggregate and individual game scores during the fixture.

In the Commercial League the Restorers gained the odd game from the Poole Dog Cafe after the latter had won the second encounter with only five pins to spare. Art Manson was high man with score of 501 and 166 at the aggregate and individual game divisions respectively.

WALKER IS CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

Middleweight Champion Declares He Will Win Over Ace Hudson

Champion Expects Great Fight; Mickey Appears in Best of Condition

Super Ranch, Ojai, Cal., Oct. 22.—Confident and seemingly content with the feeling that the middleweight crown will not be battered from his rugged brow on the night of October 20, Mickey Walker today set to work rounding out his vigorous training round for the championship ten-round bout with the "Wildcat of Nebraska," Ace Hudson, just a week away.

It was with easy confidence that the titleholder from Rumson, N.J., talked of his coming battle, for fighting most surely has become a business with the twenty-nine-year-old Rumson fighter.

The winners showed greatly improved form and gained clean cut victories in all three matches.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—For sale, a fist fighter, on the hoof, at $4 a pound. Harry Abel, owner of "Real" Harris, twenty-two-year-old giant negro boxer, so far as his ring activities are concerned, offered to dispose of Harris's career, yesterday at $1 a pound, or for a total of $1000.

Harris, rated as a capable boxer, weighs 225 pounds and stretches six feet three and one-half inches in the air. Abel plucked him from of a pool wagon three years ago. Abel's reason for wishing to dispose of him is because he found it difficult to get matches for a negro among the present-day crop of heavyweights. And Harris loves to eat, which cuts deeply into Abel's bankroll.

Major League Catcher Dies Of Injuries

Walter Larian of Philadelphia National League Club Hit By Automobile

"Peck" Started Baseball Career Ten Years Ago; Played For Late J. Dunn

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 22.—Walter Larian, Philadelphia National League catcher, died today of injuries received when a motor truck hit him on a sidewalk.

John Mooney, a former sandlot baseball player, in the days when Peck was playing with the St. Martin's club gave a pint of blood for a transfusion operation.

Larian was struck yesterday afternoon. Police said that Charles Lloyd, driver of the truck, swerved to avoid a collision with another machine and ran on to the sidewalk, crushing Larian against a building, inflicting internal injuries, severe body bruises and breaking one leg.

Lloyd was arrested, as well as August Meyers, driver of the machine which was avoiding at the time of the accident. Both were released on their own recognizance. Lloyd was charged with reckless driving and Meyers with failing to give right-of-way.

Japanese Girl Shatters Record

Seoul, Korea, Oct. 22.—Miss Kinyu Hitomi, competing for Japan in a track and field meet against Germany, broke her own record for the long jump yesterday with a leap of 19 feet 10 1/2 inches. Early in the competition Miss Hitomi lowered the world's women's record for the 100 metre and 50 metre sprints.

The accepted world's feminine record for the running broad jump is 3.39 metres or about 18 feet 7 1/2 inches set in London last year by Miss Gunn, an English athlete. Miss Hitomi's big leap yesterday was a record of 5.98 metres or approximately 19 feet 7 1/2 inches, was returned because the application bore only four signatures instead of six, as required by the regulations of the Federation Sportive Feminine Internationale.

Hagenlacher Gains Lead on Cochran

New York, Oct. 22.—Eric Hagenlacher, German billiard star, piled up a big lead on Welker Cochran of Holly wood in the first two blocks of their 3,000 point 18.2 ball-line match here yesterday. Hagenlacher led last night 5-0 to 316.

Yesterday afternoon the German won by 900 to 105. He had a high run of 110 to 40 for Cochran. The match lasted nine innings as did the night before which went to Hagenlacher by 300 to 150. Hagenlacher's high run was 124 and Cochran's 52.

Rugby, Basketball Hockey and Soccer On Big Programme

Record Turn Out for Rugby Practices With Harry Smith Performing Duties of Coach; School Basketball Teams Appear Formidable; Girls Organizing Strong Grass Hockey Team for Matches With Other Schools; Students Display Plenty of Enthusiasm.

Preparing for an active athletic season the students of the Victoria High School are turning out for practices and will soon be seen in many branches of sport.

Rugby, generally the first game to start, has as usual got away to a good start although the rains which soften the ground were a long time coming. Real serious work was delayed until it arrived.

Harry Smith, vice-principal of the institution and an old rugby player, is again coaching the first fifteen and has twenty-five boys turning out, who report three times a week for practice in the hope of making the school team.

This year's team will be picked from practically no material as there are few boys left who have had first team experience. There appears to be plenty of good material, however, and the players are young and eager, which is a great help to the coaches. Following is a list of boys who are turning out regularly for practice, and the team will be eventually selected from their ranks: McMurchie, Humber, Luitell, Garey, Colgate, Saunders, Dunn, Scott, Moore, Bapty, Halls, Milligan, Thorpe, Mayken, Harmsen, Green-slade, Manson, Levesque, Lowmings, De Blaquiere, Chapman and Petch.

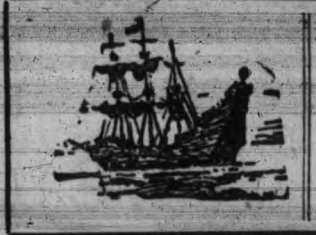

Later on the Cowichan Cup team will be selected from the boys who can make the weight as the trophy is donated for competition in the schools for boys under a certain weight limit.

A makeshift squad played a practice game against the Victoria College fifteen last week, and held the winners of last year's intermediate league to three points, which is a good indication that the team will be quite strong.

STRONG HOOP TEAMS. Under Coach Campbell, who is coaching and managing two quintettes, entered in the Intermediate "A" section of the city basketball, the school has a wealth of material this year and will be well equipped to make a bid for the Thomson Cup, which the local school have held for the last two years.

Having two teams that are quite evenly matched has been of great help in solving the practice question. There is bound to be intense rivalry between the two teams who can try out signal plays without any danger of their going astray. Although the first team lost its initial hoop battle last week in the city loop, both squads are expected to prove strong contenders as the season progresses.

Art Chapman, mainstay of the team, has been elected captain of the first team, which is as follows: Bill Shinn, Harold Shepherd, Len Patrick, Bruce McMurchie, James Petch and Art Chapman. The second team is made up of: Lantchoff, Hood, Fred McDonald, Gordon Moore, Gordon Thorpe, Bo Shert, Elford and Tom Halkott.

AFRICA MARU BRINGS GOOD ORIENT LIST

Docked This Morning From Far East With Picturesque List of Orientals Aboard

Captain Reports Good Fourteen-day Voyage Across the Pacific From Yokohama

With a picturesque passenger list of Orientals from the land of the rising sun, the Japanese liner Africa Maru docked at the Rithet piers here this morning at 10.30 o'clock from ports in China and Japan. She sailed for Seattle at noon.

There were forty-seven passengers aboard the Africa Maru, twenty-one in the first cabin, and twenty-six in the steerage. Five steerage, all Japanese left at this port. There were only three white passengers aboard, Thomas James Martineau, a missionary, his wife and infant daughter. They went to Seattle to board the ship to spend a lengthy furlough. A glimpse of the glamorous and picturesque Far East was given those on the outer decks, where dainty little Japanese maidens parading the deck attracted in native Oriental costume, beautifully colored kimono, embroidered slippers, minus heels, and handsomely decorated corsets pinned up with curious Japanese combs and fans. There were a number of little slant-eyed natives of the Orient aboard the ship, who were greatly excited at their first glimpse of the North America of which they had heard so much. They raced excitedly around the decks of the steamer while she was here, anxious for the ship to reach Seattle, where they were to disembark.

VARIED LIST

The steerage passengers leaving here were all bound for Vancouver. There were three Japanese, servant maids, a farmer en route to the Delta district and an infant in this group. For Seattle there were a Japanese author, several laborers, a student en route to New York, a number of merchants returning to this continent after business trips to the Orient and several Orient natives on their first visit to Canada and the United States.

GOOD TRIP

Capt. A. Kobayashi, master of the Africa Maru, reported a good fourteen-day voyage across the Pacific Ocean from Yokohama, the last port of call in the Orient. For a few days in mid-Pacific the liner ran through rough weather, but the progress of the ship was not hindered in the least. The ship came up the Straits from Cape Flattery in glorious morning sunshine, which was greeted enthusiastically by the passengers after a rather cold and damp passage.

BISLEY MEET IS DESCRIBED

Master Gunner Collings Addresses Gyro Club Members at Luncheon

Relates How Failure to Watch Conditions Lost Grand Aggregate Award

How he failed to watch conditions closely through his telescope and thus scored a nuptial which resulted in his losing first place in the grand aggregate competition at Bisley this year was described by Master Gunner M. "Lottie" Collings in an address before the Gyro Club at luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Master Gunner Collings vividly described the shoot-off between Lt.-Col. R. M. Blair of Vancouver and himself for the coveted honor. They tied with totals of 510 during the ordinary matches and the shoot-off was still even after the first three shots.

SHOT FOR SHOT
Shooting shot for shot then, both Blair and Collings scored bullseyes. Then they repeated the performance. On the next shot Collings failed to inspect the mirage through his telescope. He shot and then looked through the telescope, to find the mirage had completely shifted since his previous shot. Blair, who followed him adjusted himself to this new condition, scored an inner and won the prize.

An interesting description of Bisley and the various matches was given by the speaker, who referred to this year as "Canada's greatest season at Bisley."

SELECTION OF TEAM
He outlined the manner in which the Bisley team was selected at Ottawa, the highest—eighteen—in the grand aggregate of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association meet being chosen. He described the quarters of the team at Bisley and the three famous ranges on which most of the matches were shot, the Century, Siskiedown and Siberia.

Referring to the winning of the Knapton Cup competition by Canada, he mentioned the fact that this was the thirtieth time the coveted trophy had come to this Dominion.

Master Gunner Collings characterized Lieut. Desmond Burke of Ottawa, who shot off with Lt.-Col. Blair for the King's Prize, as the "finest shot in the British Empire to-day."

TROPHIES SHOWN
The speaker was warmly applauded at the end of his talk by the club members, who afterwards inspected some of the trophies won by the local marksmen.

A vocal duet by A. W. Trevett and D. Park formed the musical part of the programme, along with the Gyro orchestra.

Louie Glazier announced that the show "Keep 'Em Smiling," recently staged by the club, had netted $1,021.

MOOSE MAKING PLANS FOR DRIVE

Local Lodge Out to Increase Its Membership; Junior Branch to Be Organized

At a well-attended meeting of Victoria Lodge, 1860, Loyal Order of Moose, held on Friday evening, a number of new members were created Loyal Moose, and plans were made for further increase in the membership, which is continually growing.

The members were invited to participate in the first event of the winter season in the nature of a dance, with cards for non-dancers. This event will be held on Friday, October 25, in the Sons of Canada Hall.

Recruiting is also under way for a large class in the legion or second degree of the order, which will take place during the month of November.

Much interest is being shown in regard to the reformation of the Junior Order of Moose, for young men, twenty-one years, and it is hoped to have this branch firmly re-established in the very near future.

The next meeting of Victoria Lodge takes place on Friday, November 1. Many valuable prizes will be donated by Supervisor J. F. Pearce, who is also local secretary, to those who attend.

Strawberry Vale

The harvest home supper of St. Columba's Church was held in Strawberry Vale Hall on Thursday evening, over 200 people being catered for by the women's auxiliary. Following supper, Mrs. Stapleton, president of the auxiliary, thanked all who had assisted by contributions and by their presence.

Speeches by the chairman, Rev. F. Comley, Rev. H. A. Ireland of Wilkeson Road United Church and Rev. A. L. Nixon, preceded the following programme: Opening number, "O Canada," sung by the audience; piano selection, P. Fletcher; song, Mr. Stapleton; recitation, Mrs. Hemley; violin solo, Dr. W. Bryce; songs, Mrs. F. Comley; recitation and song, Rev. F. Comley; accordion selection, Mr. Pitts; song, Percy Edmonds; violin selection, Dr. Bryce; song, Mr. Stapleton; accordion selections, Mr. Pitts, P. Fletcher and Mr. Upward were accompanists. The meeting terminated with the singing of the National Anthem.

Mrs. W. B. Morrison left on Sunday for a visit to Port Angeles. Harvest thanksgiving services were held in St. Columba's Church, Strawberry Vale, on Sunday, the church being beautifully decorated. Morning service at 11 o'clock was conducted by Rev. Robert Cornwell, children's service at 2 p.m. by Rev. F. Comley, and in the evening Rev. F. Comley conducted a well-attended service.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Murton and Miss Isabel Murton have moved from North Road to reside in the Cloverdale district.

There will be no Friday evening service at St. Columba's this week, owing to the anniversary supper to be held by Wilkeson Road United Church on that evening.

Five special concerts at the Knapton Hotel this season, November 14, December 11, January 23, March 28, April 11.

A "Touch" of Indigestion?

The trouble is, that indigestion may not stay "just a touch." It keeps getting worse. More gas. More pain after eating. First thing you know, you have to give up eating the things you like and go on a diet. You can avoid all this by starting in now with a morning glass of ABBEY'S. For ABBEY'S stops little troubles before they become big ones. ABBEY'S rests the stomach; keeps it sweet and clean; helps the whole digestive tract to function in a normal, natural way.

Many people take a glass of ABBEY'S two or three mornings a week, just as a preventative—to keep themselves free of a "touch" of Indigestion or Bilioussness—a "touch" of Head-ache or Rheumatism—a "touch" of Liver or Kidney Trouble—or of any of those little ills which—if neglected—so often lead to serious troubles.

Dr. J. H. Wylie Says Hospital, Which Was Wiped Out, Now Completely Re-established

After being engaged for fourteen years in medical missionary work in China and visiting this country for the first time in six years, Dr. J. H. Wylie of the Taylor Memorial Hospital at Paoing Fu, arrived here by the liner President Jefferson yesterday, accompanied by Mrs. Wylie and their four children.

The mission and hospital at Paoing Fu was completely wiped out in the Boxer rising of 1900. Dr. George Yardley Taylor and Dr. Courtland Hodge, together with the entire staff and adherents, being butchered by the infuriated Boxers.

Dr. Charles Lewis went back in 1902 and commenced the rebuilding of the hospital and mission at the scene of martyrdom and desolation.

At the present time, stated Dr. Wylie to-day, the hospital at Paoing Fu contains not accommodation for sixty-five men and forty women patients.

There are four doctors, Dr. Charles Lewis, Dr. J. H. Wylie, Dr. Maude Mackey and Dr. Myrtle Hindhouse, also nine Chinese doctors and a staff of forty native nurses in training.

SELF-SUSTAINING
The mission at Paoing Fu is self-sustaining, being controlled by the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions from New York.

The city is in the Province of Hopei, formerly known as Chihli, and has a population of about 100,000 and a teeming population in the immediate vicinity.

Dr. Wylie says the work is going on well there. He expects to remain in the United States for a year.

NATIVE SONS NAME OFFICERS

Robert H. Hiseocks Is Again Chief Factor of Victoria Post

H. H. Kinsman, Fred W. Waller and Phil J. Hall.

Co-operation of the post with the Lady Douglas Chapter, I.O.D.E., in staging a bridge and mah jong party at the Amphion Hall to-night was promised, the work being in aid of dependents of war veterans.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Doctrine of Atonement" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday.

"And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation" (II Corinthians,

v. 18) was one of the Scriptural texts contained in the lesson-sermon.

Following the reading of the Bible texts, passages were also read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, one passage being the following from page eighteen: "The atonement of Christ reconciles man to God, not God to man; for the divine principle of Christ is God, and how can God propitiate Himself? Christ is Truth, which reaches no higher than itself. The fountain can rise no higher than its source. Christ, Truth, could reconcile no nature above His own, derived from the eternal Love. It was therefore Christ's purpose to reconcile man to God, not God to man."

Langford

St. Matthew's Church was prettily decorated for the harvest festival service on Sunday with sheaves of grain, flowers, fruit and vegetables given by members of the congregation. Mrs. James Stuart-Yates, Mrs. H. A. Hinks, Mrs. S. Reynolds and Miss A. Simpson, assisted by the following Girl Guides, Cecily and Pamela Bennett, Stella and Eileen Hinks, Margaret Smedley and Georgina Conkey, were responsible for the decorating of the church.

The evening service was well attended, the vicar, Rev. A. L. Nixon, taking the service, while Rev. F. C. Mortimer preached. Mrs. Horace Simpson presided at the organ and Frank Smedley rendered a solo.

Master Jack Sparks and M. Stunt spent the week-end in Victoria, visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Hewett.

Rev. A. L. Nixon, Austen Yates and

R. Phipps have made a great improvement by removing broom and brush around the church.

All members of the Langford Women's Institute are invited to attend the Lower Island District Institute conference, to be held on Tuesday and Wednesday at the Victoria Institute club rooms in the Union Bank Building.

MOTHERS now learn 'value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as, sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information." It will be sent you FREE. Write The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 30 years.

How do you know there Is a Santa Claus?

In spite of all proof there are still some who think there is no St. Nicholas in the Land of the Midnight Sun, bordering the Domain of Ice and Snow with Gnomes and fairies working for all the boys and girls in the world.

But for the boys and girls who know better here is a chance to earn some extra money for Christmas.

Here is your opportunity. If you are less than 12 years old and believe in Santa Claus the rest is very easy.

The Victoria Times offers a prize of $25 for the best letter of not more than 150 words telling just why you know there is a Santa Claus. For the letter which is judged second to the best there is an award of $15; the third prize is $10 and the fourth $5. For the next five letters to receive honorable mention The Times will give $1.

There is only one condition attached to the contest— You must be LESS than 12 years old.

All letters must be received at the office of The Times not later than midnight of Wednesday, November 20. Announcements of the winners with their letters will be made the following Monday, November 25.

Now is the time to get busy. There certainly is a Santa Claus and all the world knows that he lives right on top of the world 'way up at the North Pole.

Of course there are some little boys and girls who don't think there is a Santa, but that is just all they know about it. You can prove it to them now that you know there is one and he will come to see you at Christmas and with the money from your letter you can buy just lots of presents and candy.

Address your letter to the Santa Claus Editor, The Victoria Daily Times and be sure you mail it in plenty of time. Then Watch The Times for your name among the winners.

Children's COLDS Relieved Without "Dosing"

Mother the world over prefer the external treatment, Vicks VapoRub, because it avoids the constant "dosing" which so frequently disturbs delicate little stomachs.

Just rubbing on Vicks acts through the skin like a plaster, and gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled.

This method of treating colds originated with Vicks. Today, the whole trend of modern medical practice is away from needless "dosing."

CITY COUNCIL PLEASED WITH LARGE GALLERY

Early Saturday Closing For Department Stores Proves Popular; Effective Nov. 6

Compulsory Sign Illumination Finally Secured Council Consent

Not since the freedom of the city was bestowed on the first Vancouver Island resident to receive that honor was a City Council meeting attended so largely as last night, when 150 men and women packed every available seat at the galleries, and stood in ranks behind.

The council at first was at a loss to attribute the sudden show of interest to its right of passage. Indeed, many present thought the "Two Million Dollar Plan" had summoned citizens councilwards to see and hear what was proposed. It developed, however, that the Saturday early closing of department stores was the occasion of the visitation, and as this received its hard reading and first passage without a dissenting voice, the delegation, which was composed of retail clerks interested in the subject, left fully satisfied.

On and after November 6, all department stores will be subjected to closing restrictions at 6 p.m. on Saturdays, not including the annual Christmas trading. The terms of the by-law are to be published on October 31 and November 1 in the daily press. The measure is to bring all department stores to a common basis in regard to Saturday closing hours, it was previously explained.

The council tabled a proposed amending by-law to the City Zoning By-law, 1929, by reason of further changes that are being sought.

SIGN LIGHTING

The Sign By-law, a measure to control overhanging signs, and to compel the lighting of the larger signs and their insurance in the city's favor against public liability, received third reading and first passage. Introduced first in January, the by-law sets up a licensing and inspection system to apply to all overhanging signs. Existing signs will be given two years to conform to the new ordinance, but new signs will start under the rule of the by-law, once it is finally passed and becomes law.

Unlighted metal signs of four and a half square feet will be permitted. Over that size signs must be lighted and kept burning from one-half hour after sunset to 11 p.m. daily. Five classes of signs are provided for, each with slightly different regulations. The building inspector will have control of the system, with aid from the wiring inspector. Inspections and fees are also provided for.

ESQUIMALT LEAVES AIR BASE ALONE

Chamber of Commerce Explains That City Location is Chosen as Site

Engineers and Auditors' Reports Accepted During Meeting Last Night

The building of a seaplane base in Esquimalt Harbor will rest in abeyance as the result of the municipal council's decision following the reading of a letter relating to the base received from the Chamber of Commerce at the council meeting last night.

Replying to the council's letter requesting data on the base, the Chamber of Commerce appointed Councillor A. Lockley to the aviation committee in order to keep the municipality posted on the work being done.

In the letter the body explained to the Esquimalt Council that the property adjacent to the Brackman-Ker Milling Company's wharf at the foot of Erie Street had been selected for the base.

However, Reeve Erick noted, if a larger base were required in the future, Esquimalt might again be considered for its location.

ENGINEER'S REPORT
A report from the municipal engineer, submitted during the evening showed that approximately $3,400 was left out of the appropriation for public works made at the beginning of the fiscal year.

All accounts up to the end of September 30 had been checked by Ismay, Bolton and Holden and found in order. The report from the auditors was received and filed.

The sum of $50 was donated to the Victorian Order of Nurses by the council. The council expressed appreciation of the value of the order to the municipality.

A request from A. Swinton, asking the council to extend the south end of Grafton Street was referred to the engineer for report.

The report from Reeve Erick and Councillor A. Lockley, the municipality's delegates to the British Columbia Union of Municipalities convention, was read and accepted during the meeting.

The ladies of the W.A. of St. Michael's Church will meet in the Parish Hall every Tuesday afternoon to prepare for the sale of work to be held in November. Ladies bringing a needle and thread and new ideas will be cordially welcomed.

Mrs. T. Amos, Haliburton Road, entertained at tea on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pimlott and family of Kenora have returned to Royal Oak where they will again reside.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

Chicago, Oct. 22 (Solloway, Mills Service).—Cable places the exportable surplus from Argentina at 120,000,000 bushels. The Chicago Tribune says, Australian exportable surplus is placed at 48,000,000 bushels, against 110,000,000 bushels last year. However, despite the tendency to lower estimates on the Southern Hemisphere yield, Europe fails to show any enthusiasm on the buying side of cash wheat, with export sales of 300,000 bushels in all positions.

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited) Winnipeg, Oct. 22.—Wheat was heavy most of the day with prices sinking 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 under last night's close, but late strength in Chicago brought about a sharp reaction causing early sellers to again cover up and prices climbed over the previous close.

During the first part of the day there was some buying by seaboard houses, which was said to reflect export sales, while mills also took a little wheat and reported some sales of flour to the Orient. Later there was some buying of the local May by Chicago interests against sales of their own future. The selling during the first part of the day was mostly by buyers of yesterday, but during the last half of the day offerings were very light and hedging pressure appears to be smaller.

There was not much doing in cash wheat because the grades wanted are hard to buy. There was a little business in export done over night and a fair demand exists for four and five wheats. Seaboard interests are doing little export business as going on as ideas of exporters are too high here.

Spreads to-day were about unchanged except feed, which was one cent better. Crop conditions in Australia continue unfavorable, but are more favorable from Argentina following the heavy rains, which it is thought that the frost has done much damage.

Coarse grains: Oats and rye were decidedly strong to-day, while barley was firm. Oats continue to be worked in fair volume to the east, particularly Quebec and most of the supplies east of the lakes are pretty well cleaned up. There was nothing doing in barley and rye.

Flax: Dull market with a very poor demand and no future.

WHITNEY LETTER

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

New York, Oct. 22.—Whitney of the Wall Street Financial Bureau says today:

RALLY TO-DAY

"Yesterday's session clearly showed that the bear drive which has depressed stocks to unreasonably low prices is losing its momentum and a tendency which made its appearance at the end of the week is assuming greater proportions. This tendency being that stocks are requiring all to gather too much pounding for the additional ground that they are depressed and that in many cases repeated drives are not putting them down at all."

"The number of issues which closed yesterday unchanged from the previous close, not to mention those which closed up on the day, clearly shows that we are now narrowing down to a contest between those who have been successful thus far in bringing lower prices and the banking interests which first appeared on the buying side Saturday and again with larger buying orders yesterday."

"I think that all that is needed to conclude the bear party's success will show up to-day in the form of some pointed remarks by one of the country's foremost leaders in banking operations, with what he says representing what the market needs the most at the present time, namely, some common sense."

"Whether or not attention is directed to the basically sound credit situation as revealed by the five per cent call rate again yesterday, or the belief in banking circles that the next week or two weeks at the most will bring forth a lower discount rate, is unimportant, as these factors are being considered by every one who is taking a sane view of this market and who realizes that present prices represent nothing but panicky public liquidation which completely ignores all the economic factors which a market ordinarily recognizes."

"While possibly the first two hours of to-day's session will be required to clean up the odds and ends of liquidation I expect that before the close we will have a rally sufficient in scope and substantial enough in nature to show that the bear party is out of the saddle and the banking interests, who have agreed that the whole thing has gone too far, are in. Therefore, I repeat the advice that it is not the place to sell stocks but rather to place to buy them as bargains. This advice particularly to the oils and rails."

COMMENT

"Standard Oil of New Jersey completed what little correction it needed in its dip to 75 yesterday, and with this technical correction out of the way there is little to interfere with a new high price for it. Elsewhere in the oils, I continue to believe that the best possibilities are found in Royal Dutch, Standard of New York, Pan American, Houston and Superior."

"Although practically every rail is going to sell higher I think it will pay to concentrate on Atchafalaya, Union Pacific, Del Lackawanna, Erie Penna and Missouri Kansas and Texas."

"The industrial list as repeatedly pointed out here, cannot be treated as a whole, but I believe the leaders are now in a buying zone, which warrants their purchase on all dips, and that individually such issues as National Biscuit, United Fruit, Pullman, Corn Products, American Tel. and Tel., Byers Pipe and United States Rubber are bargains."

EIGHT PRISON TERMS GIVEN IN VANCOUVER

In which he was interested. At that time nothing was known of his intention for a transatlantic flight.

In addition, Hans Whitney, second-hand dealer, was fined $200 by Mr. Justice McDonald for trafficking in bottles of Thorpe & Company without the latter's permission.

SENTENCE REDUCED. Kirkwood, the private detective who shot down a 45-calibre revolver, David Spence in front of the Empress Rooms on Richard Street, can thank his counsel, Howard S. Coulter, for persuading the judge to reduce the sentence from five to four years.

Admitting Kirkwood had had a fair trial and must take his punishment, Mr. Coulter pointed out the prisoner was a young man, the father of five children, with an imminent increase in the number to six, that the wife was nearly blind and the family was now a public charge.

The judge said he would take these facts into consideration and reduce the sentence by a year from that which he had intended.

APPEAL PLANNED

On behalf of Nip Gar, J. R. Nicholson, her counsel, announced she would appeal the conviction and sentence to the Court of Appeal. The jury's verdict would be attacked on two grounds, inadmissible evidence and the judge's charge, he said.

All sentences date from to-day.

WALL STREET SHOWS RELIEF AS COLLAPSE TURNS INTO RECOVERY

Little Lambs Shaved Off Like Mexican Hairless Dogs By Bears in Break

At the close of the market this afternoon the Dow Jones average of thirty industrials stood at 326.51, up 5.60 points for the day; and for twenty rails at 172.38, up 2.35 points for the day, according to figures received from New York by the B.C. Bond.

New York, Oct. 22.—After yesterday's great steamboat of the public's holdings, accompanied by the jubilant cheers of the bears, the market showed a continuation of the recovery that got under way before the close yesterday.

Bullish remarks of President Mitchell of the National City Bank and of Professor Irving Fisher of Yale University today helped to recreate some cheerful sentiment.

Opening transactions were generally one or two points above yesterday's close, while certain specialties such as Simmons, General Electric, Montgomery Ward, opened with advances of from four to six points.

Subsequent trading registered further gains of about the same proportions, followed by minor recessions.

At the close, however, prices were generally two or three points above yesterday's final figures.

An exception to the general trend was had in the oil shares, especially those identified with the production end of the business.

There was a feeling of relief in the latter part of the market today, compared with yesterday's terrible session. Yesterday, "many little lambs, when the tickers stopped, might have been mistaken for hairless Mexican dogs shaved off," Arthur Brisbane says today.

Western Union today actually soared nearly twenty points to make a new record high at 272, or nine points above its last record high.

MOTORS LAG. The motors did not show much come-back. Graham-Paige sank to a new low for the year, but General Motors got up over 60 again; Packard rose to 23.

U. S. Steel common opened up more than a point stronger, 212, and rose to 216 1/2. Late in the market the stock eased down to near the opening.

URGES LOWER RATE. President Mitchell of the National City in his statement said that he knew of nothing fundamentally wrong with the market or with the credit structure. He said that if brokers' loans were better understood they would cease to be a factor. He urged lowering of the present discount rate, the bond and mortgage market, and help generally the return of full prosperity.

The recovery following President Mitchell's statement held fairly well until the last hour, when Bethlehem Steel developed pronounced weakness. This unsettled the general list and a considerable portion of the earlier gains disappeared. At the same time, however, the market did not display the semi-demoralization which attended transactions on Saturday and Monday. Stories of banking support and banking accumulation in a number of the leading industrials were credited rather widely.

NO FORCED LIQUIDATION. Call money renewed at 6 per cent and later dropped to 5 per cent. Although there was a substantial amount of liquidation to-day on the part of traders who have been buying a rally—on which to lighten long positions, the selling did not seem to be urgent. The heavy unloading and clearing of brokers' books was carried out yesterday.

To doubt whether any important market interests believe that after the tremendous offerings of stocks during the last few days that the market would immediately regain equilibrium and therefore the results of to-day's session, even allowing for fresh weakness in some issues, were regarded as reassuring, rather than otherwise.

GOOD STOCKS BOUGHT. New York, Oct. 22 (B.C. Bond).—Genuine buying support by bankers and investment trusts has been accorded only the better class stocks and the result has been that while numerous second grade and inactive issues have lost ground, the high grade issues have acted more favorably.

"Whether or not further correction and readjustment of prices will be necessary, the action of Paramount today is a decided step in the right direction. The stock has been given new market support, and a pool was reported to have been formed for the purpose of bringing about a short position. Others are equally certain that the outcome of the stock market will be a steady rise, because of interest which took in commitments prior to publication of the recent earnings statement."

Lissett & Myers-Trobridge trade authorities estimate that the advance in cigarette prices will mean between 24 and 24.50 a share. Last year's earnings were $18.93 a share, and it is estimated that around $7.50 a share will be shown on the common stock of a stock dividend being declared, as the company has fifty-two per cent of the amount of stock outstanding available for such a purpose. Current cash dividend rate is 75 a share, including 14 regular and 61 extra.

Opinion on the market action of Chrysler during last week is decidedly mixed. In some quarters it is considered that the stock had been given new market support, and a pool was reported to have been formed for the purpose of bringing about a short position. Others are equally certain that the outcome of the stock market will be a steady rise, because of interest which took in commitments prior to publication of the recent earnings statement."

seem to move faster work, but many observers believe the market is entitled to at least a technical rally after the enormous shrinkage in values within the last few weeks. The Journal of Commerce says.

SUPPORT ACCORDED CRITICAL POINT.

However, the American to-day declares that while correction of the stock market is under way, banking support is to be expected whenever the decline proceeds so fast as to threaten too much pessimism in business circles. It also declares that the same kind of quiet absorption of Standard of New Jersey was evidenced all last week continued on the sharp break Monday.

FIRST GOOD BUYING SINCE SEPTEMBER.

The World says that on Monday for the first time since the market turned downward in the early part of September, the list met good buying in large volume and that the action of the market appears to support the assumption that such buying as appeared rested upon investment purchases, rather than on so-called banking support.

EXPECT BIG LOAN CIT.

Wall Street Mirror to-day issued the following to its clients:

"In some quarters it is declared that the rally is something more than a technical rally. The market has been thoroughly liquidated for the time being. In fact, the selling of this sort is declared to have been the largest since a canvass of brokerage houses reveals the fact that loans are already down 10 per cent, or more than the average. Should the loans be 'announced' without outside influences, this reduction would run better than $500,000,000 for the week."

SOME STRONG ISSUES.

"Among the issues scheduled to lead the list upward is Air Reduction. The buying in Air Red. is what might be termed perfect. Those in a position to know what is head for the stock look for a quick advance of more than 30 points."

"U. S. Industrial Alcohol, which is closely allied with Air Reduction, will also move ahead."

"Union Carbide is extremely cheap at current levels."

"U. S. Steel is another cheap issue. The stock is selling close to its actual earnings basis more so than any number of other blue chip stocks."

"Among the low priced issues, Granite City Steel, paying $4 in dividends and selling around $50, is considered extremely cheap."

"Proctor and Gamble was able to hold above its low figure made on the October 4 break. Morgan has a big block of Proctor and Gamble."

FINANCIAL NOTES

New York, Oct. 22 (B.C. Bond Corporation).—The market has been tending favorable developments in the past week mainly because of the pessimism which has existed. Call and time money were easy and there were periods when the demand for credit was remarkably liberal. The influence from the development was felt only for a short period because on most occasions the market attracted sufficient liquidation to prevent another downward movement.

That American Call will be among the leaders in the industrial group is the expectation in most financial quarters. There has been a feeling of relief in the market from time to time recently, and its demand has been credited by interests who were identified with the advance in the stock market. The advance in the stock market outside following of fairly large proportions has been attracted.

Action of Texas Gulf Sulphur has been quite puzzling. The stock has been moving steadily upward since the beginning of the year. Rumors have been circulated that a new and strong group had been accumulating, but there is no confirmation of this. However, quite a number of market students contend that the stock has been acting as though special buying had been in progress.

Part of the buying in Corn Products has been due to the accumulation of the important holdings of the company. It is pointed out that heavy investments have been made in the past few years in the company's industrial securities, which must have increased substantially in value during the sharp advance. The stock has the recommendation of a number of leading houses.

It is estimated that the advance in cigarette prices will mean between 24 and 24.50 a share. Last year's earnings were $18.93 a share, and it is estimated that around $7.50 a share will be shown on the common stock of a stock dividend being declared, as the company has fifty-two per cent of the amount of stock outstanding available for such a purpose. Current cash dividend rate is 75 a share, including 14 regular and 61 extra.

Much forced selling has come into the Public Utilities recently. Stocks which were carried to unusually high points have been heavy, and the decline has been abrupt enough to uncover many of the stop-loss orders which had been used by outside funds to protect their accounts.

Market students report that bear traders have been attracting some of the utilities recently on the ground that they were far out of line with earnings and had more than discounted their prospects in the near future.

It is expected that a meeting of Paramount directors will be held shortly, possibly to-day, for the purpose of giving active consideration to the plan for a two-for-one roll-up in the stock. Such action would be preliminary to a combination with Warner Bros. The action of Paramount recently has been decidedly impressive. The stock has met good resistance on every reaction.

Opinion on the market action of Chrysler during last week is decidedly mixed. In some quarters it is considered that the stock had been given new market support, and a pool was reported to have been formed for the purpose of bringing about a short position. Others are equally certain that the outcome of the stock market will be a steady rise, because of interest which took in commitments prior to publication of the recent earnings statement."

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX—I am just twenty years old and feel that I am not getting any kick out of life. What shall I do? I don't sleep out much, not because I don't want to, but because I haven't met the right man. Should I sit around and wait, or should I go when I have a chance, and thus try to brighten my life? I am a business girl. Please advise. ALICE

ANSWER:

Well, Alice, when you are older you will find out that we mostly have to put the kick in life ourselves, and that if we find happiness we have to go out and hunt for it. Nightly little comes to those who just sit down and fold their hands and wait.

At twenty when you complain of life being dull, stale, flat and unprofitable, you doubtless mean that you lack dates, and that there are not many boys on the horizon. If this is the case then you certainly should take advantage of every opportunity to go about and let them find out that you are on the earth.

In the olden days, according to the novelists of that period the maid most admired by men was the shy, shrinking, timid-violet sort of young person who always stayed at home in her mother's shadow, and who was sought out by some adventurous swain who boasted of his discovering her.

But that type of girl does not ravish the masculine fancy nowadays. The modern youth does not crave violets but sunflowers and the girl who stays put at home by her own fireside and waits for some man to come add dig her out will end her days in the spinster retreat.

The modern girl has to show herself and hit men between the eyes to make them observe that she is living. She has to beat upon the cymbals and boast of her own charms and graces, and, in the commercial phrase, "sell herself" to them, or else she is left lamenting. That is why a girl can't sit back and take things easy and wait for Mr. Right to come along.

The convention that does not permit women to seek the attentions of men openly and aboveboard, places them in an awkward and difficult position. Of course, if a girl could say to a boy: "Listen, Bill, I like you and enjoy your society and the way you dance. Come on and let's go somewhere and have dinner and then two-step a little," why it would be all easy and simple, but she can't do that because she can't pay for the evening's amusement, even although she makes a bigger salary than Bill and would be glad to spend some of it that way.

So all she can do is to sit on the anxious seat and look willing and trust that Bill will cast an eye in her direction, and her only chance of having this happen to her is to camp somewhere in the spotlight.

It is hard lines on girls, but some day after men get a little more accustomed to women in business, it will all be changed and girls won't have to hint and scheme to get a date. They will make one and with the man they want.

In the meantime, keep yourself as well to the front as you can if you want to be noticed. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—My wife is unfaithful to me and every time I reproach her for her wrongdoings she tells me to shut up, that she is no more unfaithful to me than I am to her. I cannot make her understand that I am a man with my heart on and can go to places and do things that she cannot, and that I will be recognized in the best of society where they will close the door on her. Please advise. A DISGUSTED HUSBAND.

ANSWER:

I like your nerve. It is simply colossal! Certainly the domestic argument in your house is that of the pot that called the kettle black. Why is it any more of a crime for your wife to be unfaithful to you than it is for you to be unfaithful to her? Wherein is her disloyalty to you greater than yours to her?

It is quite true that society does not judge the man sinner as hardly as it does the woman sinner. It is true that the woman offender against the morality has to pay a heavier price than the man does, but this is the result of a man-made rule that was formulated in the effort to keep women virtuous. It has nothing whatever to do with the guilt of either party, and in the eyes of God the man is just as much a transgressor as is the woman.

No my advice to you is to cease reproaching your wife with her fault until you have cleansed your own record. Let him that is without sin among you throw the first stone at the Magdalene. And it seems to me that as long as your wife has such a snappy comeback as she has, you are well advised to maintain silence on the subject of morals.

But since you are both miserable sinners, why do you not forgive each other, and start make a second and more successful attempt to live up to your marriage vows? DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—Will you tell me if my boy friend really cares for me? I have been going with him for more than five years. Now I am planning to get married to him, but he doesn't seem to do much of the planning with me. He only comes to see me two nights a week and the balance of the time he goes out with his boy friends to dances and places of amusement. I have given up all my friends for him. Don't you think he should come to some understanding about marriage? Also, don't you think he should see me often? Would it wake him up if I would see other boys? MARIE.

ANSWER:

It doesn't take any daughter of a seventh daughter to diagnose your boy friend's sentiments. He is tired of you. His love is dead, killed by a long-drawn-out engagement, and he is trying to get you to break it off. If you have any self-respect, beat him to it and do it to save your face.

No man on earth who is in love with a girl limits his calls to two a week. He is always hanging around her, and the only reason a man isn't enthusiastic in planning his wedding is because he regards it as his funeral. Don't force this poor chap into an unwilling marriage. It will mean misery to you both. Save your hope chest for some man who will be crazy to marry you and hurrying to the wedding day and who will throw fits of excitement over every monogrammed dolly. Puff shells are an excellent substitute for patty shells. Grated cheese can be added to the dough before baking to make a case which is quite unusual and delicious for salad.

There is one precaution to keep in mind when using puff shells. Do not fill them long before using. The paste is very delicate and absorbent and quickly softens if a moist filling is used.

The shells can be kept several days or a week. Reheat to make crisp before filling. Care must be taken in the baking that the shells are well done. If they are not thoroughly baked, the walls will not stand up and there will be layers of soft paste inside the shells. Forty to fifty minutes should be allowed for baking.

MAKING ECLAIRS
Eclairs are made from this same paste, but are shaped in fingers four or five inches long.

Puff Shells

One-half cup butter, 1 cup boiling water, 4 cups flour, 4 eggs.
The water should be boiling when measured. Put into a perfectly smooth saucepan and add butter. Bring to the boiling point. Sift flour and add all at once to the rapidly boiling water and butter. Stir vigorously. The mixture will soon make a stiff ball, drawing away from the sides of the pan. Remove from fire and turn into a large mixing bowl. Let cool. Add eggs, unbeaten, one at a time, beating mixture until white egg is thoroughly incorporated before another is added.

Drop from tablespoon or shape with pastry bag and large tube into mounds about two and one-half inches in diameter. A cookie sheet or inverted dripping pan is convenient for baking. Bake forty minutes in a moderate oven.

Any creamed mixture usually used with patty shells can be used with puff shells. These are split after baking and filled with soft (boiled) custard and then frosted with chocolate, vanilla or maple.

When puff shells are used for salads or creamed entrees, they are split in half, each half forming a case. When used as a dessert, an opening is made at the top or side of the puff.

An out-of-the-ordinary way to serve them is to fill them with a frozen filling and pour a sauce over the whole. Peppermint parfait with chocolate sauce is an example. No cake is needed and the dessert is an effective surprise.

Very tiny puffs are made and filled with a highly seasoned sandwich filling to serve with afternoon tea. The paste is dropped from a teaspoon.

The rule is sufficient for eighteen medium sized puffs.

Needless Pain!

Nowadays, people take Aspirin for many little aches and pains, and as often as they encounter any pain.

Why not? It is a proven antidote for pain. It works!

And Aspirin tablets are absolutely harmless. You have the medical profession's word for that; they do not depress the heart.

So, don't let a cold "run its course." Don't wait for a headache to "wear off." Or regard neuralgia, neuritis, or even rheumatism as something you must endure. Only a physician can cope with the cause of such pain, but you can always turn to an Aspirin tablet for relief.

Aspirin is always available, and it never fails to help. Familiarize yourself with its many uses, and avoid a lot of needless suffering.

Amery Discusses New Empire Name

London, Oct. 22 (Canadian Press Cable).—Stating he believed the greatest days of the British Empire were yet to come, Right Hon. L. C. M. S. Amery, addressing a dinner of the Authors' Club here last night, expressed the hope the time might come when a single name would denote the British Empire.

"It was a stroke of imaginative statesmanship," he said, when English statesmen at the time of the union between England and Scotland were prepared to abdicate their national name and in the face of ridicule to have the name Great Britain for the united country. A great chance had been missed when Ireland was given dominion status, he held.

The former Secretary for the Dominions pointed out that "Oceania" had been suggested as the name for the Empire. He believed "Britannia" might suit.

COMPULSORY STATE HEALTH INSURANCE SUGGESTED TO CITY

Compulsory state health insurance, to which provincial, industrial and individual contributions would apply, to be controlled by a special provincial department, was recommended to the City Council last night by Dr. Richard Feilten, City Health Officer. Dr. Feilten has been asked to report on the questionnaire of the Royal Commission appointed by the Provincial Legislature to study the question. Free medical, surgical, X-ray and other treatment would be given under the plan, it was suggested. The council referred the report to the finance committee without discussion.

Man Wrongly Put In Prison and Freed Is Again in Court

Montreal, Oct. 22.—George Starke, who drew a good deal of public interest early this year when he was declared innocent of a crime by a man who confessed to having committed a holdup for which Starke had already served part of a penitentiary term, was in police court again yesterday. He was charged with robbery in connection with a holdup, and also a theft of a motor. He was remanded.

Convicted of participation in the holdup of the Montreal tramways of October 31, 1928, Starke was sentenced by Judge Dugas to two years in the penitentiary, with fourteen strokes of the whip. He had already served part of the sentence and had received seven lashes when a man named Hunt confessed to the holdup and declared the imprisoned Starke innocent. Starke was released from prison early this year.

TOPEY-RICHFIELD MINE CLOSES DOWN FOR LACK OF ORE

Vancouver, Oct. 22 (Miller Court Service).—A climax was reached in the affairs of Topley Richfield mine when at a meeting of directors it was decided to close down operations at the Topley property, and the few workmen remaining from the crew of over fifty men engaged for over two years have been instructed to remove everything from the lower workings. Equipment will be carefully stored and protected during the winter, or until such time as the company makes further plans.

Topley Richfield was equipped with a most complete development plant. This is all in first-class condition and it is understood that the management will cast eyes around for another property on which to go to work. The dropping of the Richfield mine will be keenly felt throughout this district, and mining will possibly bear its share of the shock, but from reports on progress it was apparent for some time that the end was inevitable. The summer's work has been most unsatisfactory.

Topley Richfield jumped into prominence within a few weeks after being discovered in June, 1926, by Frank H. Taylor. During that summer the property was visited by more outstanding engineers and representatives of large companies than probably any other property in the province within a similar space of time. For a year the work was carried on by Mr. Taylor and the old Topley Consolidated company. In 1927 an option was taken by Standard Silver-lead Company and some $45,000 spent on development at the 100-foot level, this company finally relinquishing the bond. At this stage the Topley Richfield Mine Company started in, and with a ready response from the public a big treasury was built up to carry along the work for over two years.

Until April of this year the situation looked very promising, but from that time to the day of closing the results have been disappointing. No new ore was opened up. The final move came a month ago, when it was decided to test the ground below the 200-foot level by diamond drills. This also failed to disclose commercial ore, and at the meeting the directors were faced with a conflict of opinion from other property owners. The result was that it was decided to suspend operations at the Topley holdings.

While many express regret at the failure of Topley Richfield to stand up under recent development, the company itself is in a strong position financially and they have an up-to-date plant. It is announced that examinations will be made of a number of properties in the district, and should any of these show promise, the company is prepared to go to work. Nothing, however, will be decided in this regard for some time, as several propositions are to be discussed in regard to the treasury and general affairs of the company.

SUICIDE IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Oct. 22.—Gordon Seaton, forty-five, Great War veteran, was found dead in a gas-filled room in a Japanese lodging house on Dunlevy Avenue here yesterday afternoon. The proprietor discovered the body after he had noticed a smell of gas. He saw the body lying on the bed fully clothed. The door was sealed with paper and gas flowed from four jets of the stove. Seaton had been a member of the 88th Battalion. He enlisted at Moose Jaw. Police do not consider an inquest necessary.

Reputed as One of Best Newspaper Plays Yet Produced

Jed Harris' production, "The Front Page," which has already proven the outstanding dramatic success of the past season in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles, where it has in each instance played to excited throngs of standees during its entire engagement, will open at the Capitol Theatre to-night. It has attracted wide editorial attention, because it is reputed as the one and only successful newspaper play ever produced.

Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur have built their fame upon a thing worthy to be believed. They spin their tale around the career of a young reporter who wants to quit and cannot. A respectable job awaits him in New York. A girl and a mother-in-law are impatient. But then a story starts, and no man who has ever listened to the croon of presses will be at all surprised to find that the hero chucks everything overboard to get the news.

GUS ARNHEIM'S BAND PLAYS ON CAPITOL SCREEN

One of the most famous orchestras in the country is entertaining patrons of the Capitol Theatre, where "Street Girl," the all-talking and all-musical Radio Picture featuring Betty Compson, is showing.

Gus Arnheim and his Cocoanut Grove Ambassadors, now playing at the Ambassadors Club in Paris, appear in several of the night club sequences of the Radio Picture.

Four musical numbers, written originally for "Street Girl," are being featured by Arnheim and his band as they play for the dancers in the Paris club; and in each town "Street Girl" has appeared this season these tunes have quickly become favorites with local orchestras.

MAY McAVOY IS AT HER PRETTIEST IN "LITTLE SNOB"

Dainty May McAvoy is at her loveliest and most amusing in "The Little Snob," a Warner production now showing at the Capitol Theatre. This play, which is an adaptation of an E. F. Lowe Jr. story, was scenarized by Robert Lord. The cast includes Alec Francis, Robert Frazer, Virginia Lee Corbin, John Miller and Frances Lee.

The story of "Why Be Good?" in which Colleen Moore appears this week on the same bill, was written especially for her. Carey Wilson is the author of this comedy-drama.

"INTERFERENCE" IS GOOD TALKIE FILM AT THE COLISEUM

That popular and much-heralded motion picture entitled "Interference" opened at the Coliseum Theatre last night for a three-day run, and was well received by a large first-night house. It is being produced over a talkie machine, and the voices, and musical score are splendid.

Starring in this picture are four well-known screen players, Evelyn Brent, Clive Brook, William Powell and Doris Kenyon. There is plenty of comedy running in the picture, and the plot is an interesting one which maintains suspense from beginning to end. On the stage "Interference" ran for nine months in New York, and for nearly two years in London. In other large metropolitan centres it has had equally successful engagements.

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing and fear Calafath Deafness or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears, so to your druggist and see a chance of Parmit (double strength), and add to it a pint of hot water and a little translated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Closed nostrils should be opened, breathing becomes easier and the blood starts dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who is threatened with Calafath Deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.
